

TRAIN HITS AUTO: 9 KILLED

Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)

ALBUQUERQUE, New Mexico, July 27.—The plank of the Republican platform against American participation in the League of Nations or the League Court drew the usual howls from sentimentalists and internationalists that it meant a policy of isolation. Isolationist is a favorite term of reproach of those whose greatest desire seems to be to commit this country blindfold to the madhouse of European diplomacy; to insure our being involved in disputes that do not concern us.

The people who advocate such a course are of the type who would have liked to see us apply sanctions to Italy, regardless of the probability that such action would have precipitated a general European explosion.

The paragraphs on international affairs in Governor Landon's Topeka speech recalled that Republican leadership has never shirked responsibility in the international field. But that it has refused and continues to refuse to surrender the freedom of the United States to exercise independence of judgment when problems arise. Mr. Landon has a predilection, unusual in these days, for common sense.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Aside from having one of the most attractive gardens in the city, D. M. Ritchie, of South Mill street, has one of the finest collections of Pomerani dogs in the city. He has seven of the choicest canines in the city.

With the re-appointment of Jack Young as dog catcher, the number of stray dogs throughout the city has decreased considerably, especially in the South Side.

With final plans completed, members of the Lawrence County Retail Grocers and Food Dealers Association are ready to entertain more than 10,000 persons, Wednesday, at Cascade Park, when the organization stages its annual outing.

Another successful Camp East Brook season is nearing its close. Ever since June 22 the Y. W. C. A. camp has been full to capacity. Much credit goes to the director, Miss Betty Clover, well known New Castle young teacher, her staff of counselors, to the camp caretaker, Thomas Outwaite; the head cook, Mrs. Alice Lewis, and her assistant, Mrs. Walter Hart. Present counselors are the Misses Carlissa Duff, Peggy Griffith, Helen Haines, Sylvia Martin, Doris Marvin, Katharine Melvin, R. N., and Gretchen Smith.

PA News informed that while the route is not as yet officially opened to traffic, motorists are driving over the new stretch of concrete highway on the East Brook-Volant route. The new piece of roadway is about a half a mile or a little more in extent, and forms a connection on the route from East Brook to the Perry highway at Leesburg.

Spanish Girls Take Places In Battle Lines

Report Hundreds Shoulder Heavy Arms In Government Advance On Rebels

BOTH SIDES CLAIM CLASH VICTORIES

Madrid Is Reported As Almost Normal For First Time In Week

Spanish rebels and government leaders both claimed sweeping victories today as opposing forces came to grips at strategic points near Madrid. Chief developments follow:

MADRID—The government hurried thousands of men into the mountain passes north of Madrid for an attempted clean-up as artillery and aircraft attacked rebel strongholds.

SOMO SIERRA—Rebel officers announced loyal forces "dislodged" from Somo Sierra, the "key to Madrid," but depressed by report France's rebel government has come to the enemy's aid with airplanes and munitions.

MARIENBAD—Former King Alfonso dispatched his court marshal to confer with Don Juan, his presumptive heir to the Spanish throne.

HENDAYE—Anarchy prevailing in Barcelona, where girls armed with revolvers patrol streets as only representatives of law and order.

LONDON—Because of the Spanish war, King Edward cancelled plans to spend his summer holiday at Cannes.

WPA Orchestra Will Play Wednesday Night; Greet Dads Friday

A concert by the Works Progress Administration orchestra will be the headline feature of the "Family Night" program to be held at Camp Fred L. Rentz of the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday evening, July 29, Camp Director Henry T. MacNichols announced this morning.

The concert will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. Earlier that evening, members of The Townsmen of New Castle will meet the older campers in mushroom. Parents and former campers are expected to arrive at the grounds early for this attraction.

"Father's Night" has been announced for Friday evening, July 31, and preparations are being made to welcome the dads of the present and former campers. Charles Ross, representing the Vitale Fireworks company, will handle the night's colorful fireworks display. He will also speak on fireworks manufacture.

Hundreds Reported As Dead In Fire

(International News Service) LONDON, July 27.—"Hundreds of persons" have perished in a vast fire at Massawa, Italy's war port on the Red Sea, according to a Reuters dispatch from Aden, Arabia. Fifty airplanes were destroyed, and a gasoline plant and ammunition dump blown up.

Rome, July 27.—Official circles today confirmed that Massawa, Eritrea, was ravaged by a disastrous fire, believed to have started aboard a freighter in the harbor. Reports that hundreds of lives were lost were, however, denied.

TWO SMALL FIRES OVER WEEK-END

With the exception of two small fires, New Castle fire department had a quiet week-end. Saturday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, Company No. 5, and B. truck were called to Moravia street, along the B. & O. tracks, where some waste paper caught on fire. Last night about 8:45 o'clock, Company No. 4 was called to Franklin and Winslow avenues where some rubbish was on fire. No damage was caused by the two fires.

Rebels Declare They Hold Key To Madrid

WITH THE NORTHERN SPANISH REBEL ARMY AT THE FRONT, EREZO DE ABAJO (SOMO SIERRA)—By Courier to the French Frontier

July 27.—Bombs burst around us on the rebel front today and clouds of red earth dimmed the sky as happy officers, grinning through the dust of battle cried: "We have dislodged the enemy from their last stronghold on the heights of Somo Sierra, and we've got the key to Madrid!"

Once more they announced, "we can take Madrid tomorrow if we want," and here at the front, as in many wars, spirits are higher than they are among the men at the rear, for the leaders of the rebel army have received with profound depression the report that France's leftist government has rallied to the aid of their Socialist colleagues in Madrid, and that a shipload of airplanes and munitions is now en route to the Madrid forces from Marseilles.

So great was the shock of this news in rebel general headquarters at Burgos that one colonel at his desk sank his head and exclaimed: "Then we are lost!"

Different Spirit Entirely different is the spirit here on the battle line, only 60 miles from Spain's capital.

We reached here after three hours' driving from Burgos. With our passes we made it through all patrols and through swarms of troops, irregulars, and shouting citizens by (Continued on Page Two)

Only Two Of Seven Persons Taken Into Custody In Murder Still Held

SOLUTION OF CASE APPEARS BAFFLING

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 27.—The tangled Cleveland murder mystery became further ensnared today when Sheriff Laurence E. Brown, shortly before noon, revealed that Prof. W. L. Cleveland, uncle of the slain Helen Cleveland, New York university co-ed, was in the county jail here despite the announcement of Cleveland's counsel that the North Carolina State university teacher had been released.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 27.—With only two of the seven persons thus far taken into custody for questioning still in jail, the murder of Helen Cleveland, pretty 18-year-old New York University co-ed, today began to look like a crime extremely difficult to solve. The chances of a quick revelation of the identity of the slayer began to fade. Professor W. L. Cleveland of the dairy department of North Carolina State University was released from the county jail after having been held for two days, it was announced by his counsel, former Judge Guy Weaver. Weaver declined to disclose Cleveland's whereabouts but said there was a possibility he would see newspapermen today.

Two Are Held Still remaining in jail are Daniel H. Gaddy, night watchman and private detective of the fashionable Battery Park Hotel, where the girl was slain and shot to death in her room, and L. D. Roddey, negro elevator operator.

Attorney Weaver said Professor Cleveland, who was traveling with the girl at the time she was slain and who found the lifeless body, left the jail of his own accord. Sheriff Laurence E. Brown refused to comment or even confirm the professor's departure.

According to Attorney Weaver, Professor Cleveland thought nothing more could be accomplished by (Continued on Page Two)

Local Girls Set New Bike Record

Local Girls Complete 450 Mile Bike Ride Over Mountains; Report Interesting Trip

Bicycling is all the rage among girls this summer, and to confirm this fact, two of New Castle's own girls, Misses Betty Brown of Richey avenue and her chum, Eloise Bishop of Locust street, set out on a few days ago on their bikes for an adventurous trip, which they completed in record time. Upon their return yesterday, they reported having covered approximately 450 miles of country, averaging 70 to 75 miles each day. Despite the heat they encountered, and other circumstances that are bound to arise on such occasions, they report an interesting and enjoyable jaunt. They went through Clarion, DuBois, Renova, Lock Haven, Altoona and Pittsburgh, taking one of the most difficult routes for bike riders, due to uphill climbs in the mountainous sections. Sunburn and tired muscles haven't discouraged the girls in the least, as already they are planning another trip of the same nature within the near future.

"Ruffles" Johns On World Tour

Departs From New Castle Late Saturday On What He Expects To Be Four-Year Tour

Carrying his suitcase under his arm, and fortified only with a small amount of capital, Ralph "Ruffles" Johns, well known New Castle youth, dropped into The News office late Saturday afternoon, said goodbye to the editorial staff, and announced that he was off on his first lap of what he expects to be a trip around the world.

He departed for Baltimore, which is the first goal on his trip. From Baltimore he expects to start across the Atlantic on his world girdling trip. "Ruffles" during the past few years has achieved some fame along the line of the famous gate crasher, "One Eye" Connelly, and he expects to be able to make the world journey successfully. Johns says that it will probably take four years to complete the circuit.

ABOARD SCHOONER LIBERTY, Granmanan Island, N. B., July 27.—Bronzed and in buoyant spirits after 13 days of poking about little visited North Atlantic fishing ports on the 56-foot schooner yacht Seawanna, President Roosevelt planned to bring his vacation cruise to an end today.

Subject to the whims of wind, weather and tide, the executive intended to sail the trim little craft northward to the Roosevelt family camp on Campobello Island, N. B., sometime during the day or evening. It was a distance of only 20 miles, but the president and his three-son crew were in no hurry. Enroute they were expected to nose into one or more of the many coves in Grand Manan Island, where the Seawanna anchored Sunday.

At Campobello, the president will join Mrs. Roosevelt and spend several days in the spacious red-shingled cottage which overlooks Passamaquoddy bay. Since the chief executive and his three sons, James, Franklin, Jr., and John, left Rockland, Me. on July 14 they have travelled over 400 miles under sail, crossing the Bay of Fundy in 30 hours of continuous sailing, visited a number of the remotest Nova Scotia fishing fleet harbors and a portion of New Brunswick off the northern Maine coast.

According to present plans Mr. Roosevelt will remain at Campobello until Thursday night. As an interlude under the protection not only of the ever present secret service but also the famed Royal Northwest Mounted Police of Canada.

Will Remove Americans From Danger In Madrid

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Evacuation of Americans from beleaguered Madrid, prize of savage fighting between rebel and government forces in Spain's civil war, was expected momentarily today.

As the dull thunder of artillery to the northward told of the desperate battle raging for possession of the mountain passes leading to the Spanish capital, the American government sought to remove the remaining Americans from the danger zone.

The 161 American citizens who have been sheltered in the American embassy at Madrid for the past week as the flames of civil war seared Spain will be removed to safety by train, if possible.

Eric C. Wendelin, in charge of the American embassy at Madrid, informed the state department that he was endeavoring to arrange for removal of the Americans by train to Valencia where they will be out of the threat of danger.

Wendelin said he would use the train only in the event that Spanish authorities guaranteed its safety and provided an adequate armed (Continued on Page Two)

Drouth Problem Before Landon

Governor Considers Conditions Confronting His Own State Today

SEVERAL VISITORS TO CONFER TODAY

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOPEKA, Kas., July 27.—Governor Alfred M. Landon, turning from his presidential campaign, today began a series of conferences with his executive aides to determine whether the state can extend any further help to farmers in the drouth-stricken areas of sun-blighted Kansas.

The governor called for a report from Secretary of Agriculture Jacob C. Mohler of the construction of farm ponds throughout the state under his water conservation and drouth-aid program. So far 1,100 of these ponds have been built on individual farms, with a total of 3,000 to be constructed before the program is concluded. The total program will store 16,000 acre feet of water.

Landon meanwhile had a number of appointments for the day. He will confer with Benjamin M. Anderson, Jr., economist of the Chase National Bank of New York, and Col. Leonard P. Ayres, statistician and vice-president of the Cleveland Trust Company, on economic matters. He also will meet Leslie Jensen, Republican candidate for governor of South Dakota, and Robert Marion Hardy, bank president of Yakima, Washington.

Drouth Problem

The Kansas drouth problem deeply concerned the Republican nominee already, twenty-seven of the state's 105 counties are on a federal drouth emergency basis, entitling their inhabitants to special federal relief. Unless the present heat wave is broken by rain, state officials believe the list will be greatly augmented within another week.

The governor faced some serious obstacles in aiding the drouth-stricken farmers. For one thing, the state constitution forbids state expenditures for emergency relief placing that burden on the counties.

On the political side of his campaign, the governor sent a telegram of greeting to the Young Republican organization of Illinois, which met in Peoria. He wired Thomas J. Dewey, president, progress was impossible "except when men and women are free to give and to express the best that is within them." To solve our problems, he added, "calls for sturdy souls and keen intellect and above all, for the initiative and courage of American youth."

Sentence Karpis To Life In Jail

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Returns From Europe Rather Disappointed

HOPES THINGS ARE BETTER IN U. S.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 27.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who declared against prohibition in 1932, returned today from Europe still hoping he had done the right thing but disappointed in the result.

He said: "I hope things are better. I am bound to believe they are. But many states have administered the law so that more harm than good has been done. The trouble is that many states have gone after revenue in high taxes on liquor and so have failed to eliminate bootlegging and racketeering."

"It was in the hope of preventing these things that I changed my mind," Rockefeller, accompanied by Mrs. Rockefeller and their youngest son, David, was in Europe five weeks. Rockefeller brought back with him a decoration bestowed upon him by the French government for his donation of $2,400,000 to restore the Palace of Versailles and the nearby "farm" of Marie Antoinette.

Picnic At Moose Park Is Enjoyed

Court House Officials Win In Ball Game With Attorneys—Other Features

Court house officials, employees and attorneys numbering something over one hundred in all, enjoyed a pleasant picnic at Moose Park on the Evans City-Butler road, Saturday.

Principal feature was a ball game between the court house officials and the lawyers which resulted in a victory for the court house officials by a score of 14 to 10. Batteries for the court house nine were Elmer Nesbit, Henry Wetlich, Elmer Taylor and Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard; for the lawyers, Frank Moretti, Joe Solomon and Melvin Kaplan.

The bathing beauty contest, judged by Attorney Thomas W. Dickey and Coroner Orville Potter, was another feature, but they were unable to agree on the winner.

One of the features billed was the appearance of Attorney Edwin K. Logan in a bathing suit, but after dinner he mysteriously disappeared, much to the disappointment of the expectant picnicers. Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard was furnished with a habec corpus, but it simply wouldn't work.

Pilot And Passenger Die In Accident Near Mt. Carmel

(International News Service)

MT. CARMEL, Pa., July 27.—An investigation was planned today into a plane crash at nearby Gordon which claimed the lives of Edwin Aston, 31, pilot, and Daniel Heil, 24, a passenger, as they prepared to inspect a site for a proposed airport.

Flying in a plane hired by Aston, the two victims were on an inspection tour with Paul Seitzinger, of Gordon, who flew his own plane and who sought advice on the selection and construction of a landing field.

Both Aston and Heil, according to Deputy Coroner Charles W. Sener, of Ashland, died almost instantly of multiple fractures. Seitzinger and Aston crashed near here two years ago, it was reported with Seitzinger paralyzed for several months as a result.

GOVERNOR REVIEWS GUARDS

Second Week Of Camp Starting

Sudden Epidemic Of Stomach Illness Is Reported At Camp

BLAME HEAT AS AIDING FACTOR

(International News Service)
INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa., July 27.—The week-end review of the camp at Indiantown Gap, Pa., showed a sudden epidemic of stomach illness that struck down almost a hundred guardsmen and civilians, officers and men of the Pennsylvania National Guard's 28th Division buckled down today for the second and final week of their summer encampment here.

Ahead were seven days of grueling war games, tactical maneuvers for the entire fighting force under Maj. Gen. Edward C. Shannon, commander of the guard.

How many of the men would participate of those stricken suddenly ill following mess yesterday, when the division passed on review for Gov. George H. Earle, remained to be seen. Maj. John Boger, battalion hospital commander, reported that 37 guardsmen and 47 civilians became ill after mess had been served for Battery E, 108th Field Artillery, of Philadelphia.

Although Major Boger said that heat probably was a contributing cause, it was announced by Col. Henry Reninger, assistant chief of staff, that a thorough investigation was being made to trace the exact cause of the sickness. Numerous civilians were hospitalized here for the night.

None Seriously Ill
The malady was unofficially described as mild typhoid poisoning. None of the victims was seriously ill, officers said.

Thousands of persons streamed into this mountain reservation by train and automobile to witness the spectacle of the "Fighting 28th" on review before Governor Earle. The commander-in-chief, Gen. C. G. B. Weaver, said the camp was completely motorized since the World War artillery units rumbled by with khaki-clad troops who "ate dust" while parading afoot in the formal review. Three planes of the 103rd Observation squadron roared overhead as part of the military display.

Governor Earle appealed to those present to urge their legislators to support an appropriation of $400,000 covering expenses incurred by the guard on its "errand of mercy" during the March flood. In addition, he said, the state is in position to receive $4,500,000 in federal funds for construction of armories, provided the state "puts in its share $500,000."

"As a former National Guardsman," Governor Earle said, "I appeal to you to bring the message to your state senators and representatives that the National Guard must not be permitted to break down because of its errand of mercy in the flood, and Pennsylvania cannot afford to permit nine dollars of federal money to be lost because Pennsylvania will not put up one dollar of its own money."

Governor Earle, termed Maj. Gen. Shannon, Lieutenant Governor under former Gov. Gifford Pinchot, "the most efficient and courageous National Guard officer in America."

WILL REMOVE AMERICANS FROM DANGER IN MADRID

guard. Even then the Americans will have to travel at their own risk. Until yesterday, due to crippled transportation facilities, it was considered out of the question to attempt to remove the Americans from Madrid. Wendelin on Saturday told Secretary of State Cordell Hull in a trans-Atlantic telephone conversation that even airplane removal was not feasible.

Meanwhile, a fierce battle between rebel and government forces at San Sebastian forced the staff of the American summer embassy to flee the city. The embassy staff went to nearby Puente de Ibañeta to join Ambassador Claude G. Bowers at his summer home.

Puente de Ibañeta is only five miles from San Sebastian and the state department felt considerable concern over safety of Bowers and his staff because of its proximity to the city.

However, Bowers sought to dispel these fears, reporting that he is being accorded every possible consideration by the authorities. He said the embassy was removed to Puente de Ibañeta because of the "impossible conditions obtaining in San Sebastian."

Bowers sent his family to St. Jean de Luz, across the French border. All other Americans from both San Sebastian and Bilbao, Bowers reported, have been removed to safety.

Severed communications still isolated San Sebastian from the rest of Spain. It has been impossible for five days to communicate with Madrid, Bowers stated.

his remaining in jail for questioning. He was specific in pointing out that the sheriff had brought no charge against the professor.

The night of the crime Professor Clevenger occupied room 231 at the Battery Park. Miss Clevenger was in room 224. He retired about 11 o'clock the night of the slaying. She was killed at approximately 1 o'clock in the morning, July 16.

To Confer With Sheriff

Before Professor Clevenger leaves Asheville he plans to confer with Sheriff Brown, Weaver told newspaper reporters. Explaining why the correspondents were having difficulty contacting the professor, Weaver said he was "modest and retiring and shrank from questioning."

The departure of Professor Clevenger from the jail was preceded by the arrival Saturday morning of his brother, Professor C. B. Clevenger, who is connected with the soil division of North Carolina State College at Raleigh. C. B. Clevenger tried unsuccessfully for three hours to contact his brother in jail and then had Weaver begin habeas corpus proceedings.

Superior Court Judge F. Donald Phillips issued a writ of habeas corpus for Professor Clevenger's release, returnable at 6:30 o'clock last Saturday evening. At that hour Judge Phillips received word from the sheriff's office that he had been released. But he had not.

Reporters rushed to the home of C. W. Peggam, a dairyman and friend of the Clevengers, and there they found C. B. Clevenger. A quiet, modest, gray-haired man of about fifty, C. B. Clevenger told newspaper men his brother was staying in the jail of his own volition in order to cooperate 100 per cent with Sheriff Brown.

raising our hands in the Fascist salute and yelling "Viva Espana!" while our cars dashed on.

Half way to the front, we passed a column of 50 motor buses camouflaged with branches of trees. These had rushed troops forward fast enough to get a foothold on the heights of Somo Sierra, and thus prevent an initial victory by the Madrid forces in much the same way as Paris was saved at the beginning of the great war.

A steady stream of automobiles passed us coming from the front, many of them laden with wounded.

Soon we overtook a series of trucks bearing instruments which had done business for the rebels—three-inch artillery pieces tied down with ropes on improvised mountings. It was these guns, brought up after five days of fighting which finally shelled the Marxists from their positions, atop the craggy pass of Somo Sierra, 5,400 feet high.

Meet Commander

Pulling up in Ezezo De Abajo, we met the victorious rebel commander, Col. Garcia Escamez, with his staff.

A first-aid dressing station occupied a tiny cafe. Amid the turmoil of artillery, cavalry mules, wounded men, and weary, dust-caked soldiers, the officers surrounded us asking for news from the rear.

A striking sign of how speedily the insurrection began was the strange uniforms of many noble officers who are now wearing blue overalls with their insignia of rank pinned on their collars. I counted two dukes and three marquises in overalls.

One such overalled major told us: "We took what we wanted and blew them out of their holes, and now we've got a straight road to Madrid."

"We could go on tomorrow if we liked, but we'll probably wait for the southern army from Seville to enter the capital at the same time as we do. There have not been many casualties."

Overhead, airplanes soared so high it was impossible to discern whether they were rebel or Madrid planes. But presently two hundred yards away a great burst of earth came up from the field and the dull boom of high explosives told us they were enemy planes.

Over at the left two rebel airplanes were resting on level fields used as a front line airfield. We watched from our car the lazy, graceful curving of the Madrid planes away up against the cobalt blue of the northern Spanish sky.

Bomb Is Heard

No sign came from the aircraft, but suddenly the shrill whine of a bomb with the crashing roar of the high explosive brought us up trembling. This second bomb landed perhaps a hundred yards away, but it was close enough that it seemed we could have touched it.

We sent our car down the road and stood watching. There was no use running, because we could just as well run into bombs as away from them.

Again that irritating sense of helplessness came over me as it had beneath Italian bombs at Dessye in Abyssinia, but luckily now we realized as Madrid's bombs came raining down that they were aimed at the rebels' grounded airplanes.

Columns of earth rose all around the target, but finally the Madrid bomber made one last graceful curve, then soared away, leaving the intended victims unscathed.

Nevertheless, all the cars returning from the front put on their topmost speeds. Madrid hopes that one lucky hit might wipe out the entire staff of their enemy.

Air May Decide

More and more it appears that this civil war may be decided by air strength, and this explains the depression in rebel headquarters over the report that the French are sending 20 bombing airplanes and 20,000 bombs, in addition to 50 light machine guns, 12,000,000 cartridges, and eight cannons to Madrid by way of Marseilles in a ship said to be the Ciudad De Tarragona.

The ship, believed to be heading for Valencia, was erroneously reported to have fallen into the hands of rebels, but apparently it is still occupied by government partisans.

One high-ranking member of the rebel staff predicted: "She'll never get to her destination. Mark my words, she'll never give that war material to Madrid."

Information at Burgos has it that among the bombs ordered by Madrid from France are gas bombs. It remains to be seen who will be first in history to use gas in a European civil war, but we three correspondents, one French, on British and myself, the only ones in this war sector, are taking the precaution of having gas masks sent in from France.

Rebels Incensed

The rebels are incensed over France's aid to Madrid, because the rebels take the stand that they are the real government of Spain. At the same time as Madrid is attempting to import arms from France, the rebels are trying to get a fleet of Fokker bombers.

The rebels are confidently hopeful of sympathetic aid from Nazi Germany, and these international aspects of Spain's civil war bring out even more clearly where the line of division lies—between that entire group of liberals, socialists, and communists now popularly lumped together under the name of "reds," and all conservative forces of the right, called "whites."

Red Madrid thus expects help from Red Paris, while the white rebels would like to get aid from Nazi Berlin and Fascist Rome and even from British business men.

France's air minister, Pierre Cot, is blamed for denying aid to the rebels, latest reports from Madrid to Burgos being that he has invited the Spanish Fascists, Jose Maria Gil Robles and Juan March, the millionaire, to leave Biarritz, where they had fled.

The latest dispatch to Burgos declares that the French government has denied sending arms to Madrid, but Burgos remains aware that the interest of the French left wing in the success of the Spanish left wing is vital, because Madrid's defeat might eventually cause the fall of the Blum government in France.

Meanwhile the delay of the rebels in making the general advance promised four days ago is admitted here to be due to the lack of trained men for the assault.

Although the rebels claim to hold two-thirds of Spain, they're encountering dangerous underground opposition from the masses. This is literally true in Asturias, where the miners barricaded themselves in mines, from which the army has not yet been able to dislodge them.

British tourists who have just escaped from Asturias declare that Province, nominally in the hands of the rebel army, is a red volcano.

The success of any insurrection depends upon its maintaining momentum, and if Madrid is not taken this week, the prospects of rebel success will be greatly diminished.

SPANISH GIRLS TAKE PLACES IN BATTLE LINES

young girls shouldering heavy arms, unleashed a strong offensive against the rebel lines north of Madrid at daybreak today.

Supported by artillery and airplanes, the loyal troops attempted to break the bulging rebel hold at several points near Alto De Leon and Somo Sierra, and dislodge the Fascists entrenched in mountain ranges 30 miles north of Madrid.

The government claimed consistent success during the fighting of the last three days. While admitting the rebels have not been driven from the field, government spokesmen said they have been merely shifting their positions with each new loyal onslaught.

Casualties Not Estimated.

Casualties on either side since the telling battle for Madrid started four days ago have not yet been estimated. The fighting is taking place at widely scattered points north of the capital, preventing a quick or organized check-up.

The government claims to have 12,000 men in this northern field. Full rebel strength is not known here.

Meanwhile, a newly-formed girls' regiment of militia started training

VERIE LEE WEDS PAUL L. REYNOLDS

PARTIES PLANNED FOR CALIFORNIANS

New Castle and Ellwood City friends will read with interest announcement of the marriage in Cumberland, Md. Saturday, July 25, of Verie Lee, formerly of this city, to Paul L. Reynolds, of Beaver Falls.

The quiet ceremony was performed at noon in the parsonage of the First M. E. church, by the Rev. George Baughman. The couple was unattended.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds will spend the month of July at the summer cottage of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Osborne, of Fourth street, Ellwood, which is located near the airport, along the Connoquenessing. In September, they plan a honeymoon trip in Canada.

The new Mrs. Reynolds is one of the most popular young women in this vicinity, with a wide circle of friends in the valley as well as in New Castle. She was formerly identified with the ready-to-wear department of the New Castle Dry Goods company here.

Mr. Reynolds is in the wholesale photo finishing business in Beaver Falls, having been located at 3813 Second avenue, for the past eleven and a half years.

LOCAL PEOPLE AT CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y.

Many other New Castle people are vacationing at Chautauqua, N. Y., among the number being the following:

Married In Sharon Saturday

MR. AND MRS. JOHN CLYDE FISHER, JR.

AIKEN-FISHER WEDDING IS BRILLIANT EVENT

At a brilliant open church ceremony Saturday afternoon in the First Presbyterian, in Sharon, Marguerite Aiken, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Loughbridge Aiken, former New Castle residents, was married to John Clyde Fisher, Jr., of Pittsburgh, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Fisher of Ridgeway, Pa., former Sharon residents.

Dr. William R. Wishart officiated before a fashionable assemblage of Sharon and out of town residents, the event being marked as one of the most outstanding social affairs of the summer. For the occasion, the church was a bower of beauty with a profusion of colorful blooms, intermingled with an abundance of palms and ferns.

The bride was most attractive in her wedding gown of white dotted swiss, designed along princess lines, with high neck, long sleeves and long train. She carried a Colonial bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Her maid of honor, Juliana Bestwick, was attired in shell pink organza, with a coronet of pink roses and carried a shower bouquet of blended pink roses shading from the delicate color into deeper tones.

The bridesmaids, Virginia Luse, Mary Eleanor Oakley, and Rosemary May, all were in French blue dainty, with Bordeaux sashes and they carried shower bouquets of blended tones of blue and bordeaux, with tresses of the same shade. William Aiken, brother of the bride, was best man.

Little Carolyn Lafferty was the flower girl, wearing a fluffy yellow organza frock, fashioned after the same lines as the bridesmaid's gowns. Her coronet was of dainty flowers and she carried the same blended tones of varied blooms in her small basket.

Ushers were Howard Gates, Herbert Carpenter, Paul Quilby, Millard Frye, Jr., Howard M. Taylor and Clarence Jones. All the men in the bridal party wore white linen suits, with gardenias for boutonnières of gardenias.

The wedding was supplemented with a reception and dinner after which Mr. and Mrs. Fisher left on a wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside at Mr. Lebanon, Pa., the groom being now on the editorial staff of the Pittsburgh Press, where he went last year after four years' service in a similar capacity with the Sharon-Herald, of which publication the bride's father is treasurer.

The bride is a Sharon high school graduate and attended Ohio Wesleyan university and Allegheny college. The groom is a graduate of Meadville high school, an alumnus of Allegheny college and a member of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

Among the large number of out of town guests at the wedding from New Castle were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Rentz, Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Felch, Mrs. Russell Urmon, Mrs. Carl Reed, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. P. Green, Mrs. W. G. Eekies, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. D. Walton, Misses Anna, Cassie and Jean Aiken, Dr. and Mrs. John Foster, Mrs. Martha Shaffer, Mrs. Ida Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Machin, Mrs. Jesse R. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. C. Ed. Brown, Mrs. Anna Wagner and son Bud.

Mr. Jackson—Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Laughlin and daughter Mary, Mrs. Harris McClelland and daughter Ruth.

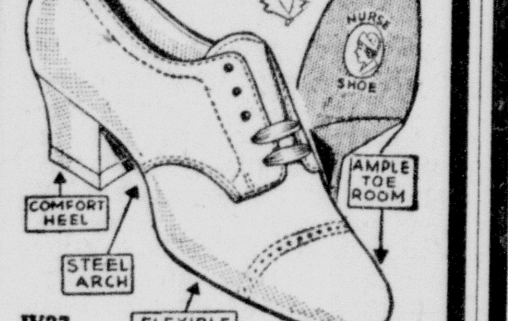

New Wilmington—Mrs. Jean Lewis and son Jack and Miss Mary Clark. Youngstown—Mrs. Martha Collier and son George, daughters Elizabeth and Mary.

G. HUBERT MORGAN AND FAMILY HONORED

G. Hubert Morgan of Morgan and Burrows Company, of this city, and his family, who are vacationing at Conneaut Lake, O., were taken by complete surprise Sunday morning when they were greeted by a motorcade carrying employees of the local concern accompanied by their families, arriving at 11 a. m., for a picnic dinner.

The occasion was also a medium of honoring one of their office group, Mrs. Tony Ostrosky, who is leaving soon to make her permanent home in Cleveland, O. She was presented with a beautiful electric gift in behalf of the company.

After the excitement had subsided to a certain degree, the long tables placed about the lawn of the Morgan home in the Mid-Way section, were quickly set and appointments in tones suggestive of the season for the serving of a sumptuous menu. Places marked for sixty-two everyone taking well filled baskets and ample supplies that further aided in making the day's festivities complete and one of the most enjoyable events ever undertaken.

Following special greetings given by several of the assemblage, attention was given over to a program of swimming, motor boating, horseback riding and other sports, suitable to all ages. Afterwards the guests returned to their homes in New Castle.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan and family will return within a week to their Leasure avenue residence, concluding a month's stay at the lake.

RUNG-POLLARD WEDDING SATURDAY

Elizabeth M. Rung, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rung, of Lakewood, was united in marriage to Robert L. Pollard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leas Pollard, of 15 North Front street, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock by the Rev. Thomas Pollard.

The ceremony was a very quiet affair at the home of Rev. Pollard, 511 Leasure avenue. The young couple left on a brief trip afterwards, returning from which they have taken up their residence in an apartment on North Beaver street.

Mr. Pollard is the owner of Bob's Cycle Shop on North Jefferson street.

REYNOLDS-HONKONEN WEDDING THIS MORNING

In Epworth M. E. church this morning at 10:30, another very pretty summer wedding was solemnized, Emily Grace Reynolds, daughter of Chester P. Reynolds of 313 Englewood avenue, becoming the bride of Matthew William Honkonen, son of Mrs. Wilhemina Honkonen, of Chestnut street.

Rev. James A. Galbraith performed the single ring ceremony before a beautifully decorated altar adorned with a profusion of palms and ferns intermingled with clusters of white flowers. A large number of friends and relatives was present.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was becomingly gowned in a white satin dress, full length, with a Queen Elizabeth finger tip veil of tulle added charming dignity. She carried an arm bouquet of gardenias.

E. Esther Reynolds was her sister's attendant, wearing a long pink lace frock with blue accessories, and carrying an arm bouquet of tea-roses. Claude Crill served as best man. Russell Lenning and Paul Reynolds, he latter the bride's brother, were ushers. The men in the party appeared in white suits, with boutonnières of white roses.

Preceding the service, a fifteen minute program of nuptial music was played by Miss Ruth Galbraith, organist, who also accompanied Sam Lewis, well known local tenor, when he rendered in his usually impressive manner, "O Promise Me" Miss Galbraith played the Lohengrin "Bridal Chorus" for the processional, "Liebestraum" during the ceremony, and concluded with Mendelssohn's "Wedding March."

After a congratulatory period at the church a wedding breakfast was served in a North Jefferson street tea room, pink and white tones prevailed in attractive appointments. Beautiful bouquets of pink and white roses with baby's breath, were used as centerpieces for the bride's table at which ten guests were seated, and on the smaller tables where the other guests were grouped.

Favors were nut cups in white, carrying the name cards with a bride and groom motif. A miniature bride and groom also graced the large wedding cake which completed the ensemble at the bride's table, and the ice cream, topping off a tasty meal, was in the form of pink and white slippers.

Mr. and Mrs. Honkonen departed this afternoon on a trip to New York City and Chautauqua, N. Y., the bride wearing a smart black sheer tunic dress with all black accessories. When they return, they will take up their residence in a newly furnished apartment at 744 Chestnut street, being at home after August 10.

Both young people are popularly known in New Castle. The bride has been among J. C. Penney company employees, and the groom connected with the Provident Mutual Life Insurance company. Many pre-nuptial parties were given in their honor at which a beautiful collection of gifts was received.

Here for the wedding today were guests from out of town, some coming from Ellwood City, Warren, O., Poland, O., and New York City.

MAY-DUMBAUGH MARRIAGE EVENT

Miss Helen May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter May of New Castle R. D. 5, was united in marriage to William Dumbaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Dumbaugh, R. D. 5, Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in New Cumberland, W. Va.

The ceremony took place in the First Christian church with the Rev. John Higgins, pastor, officiating, and using the single ring ceremony.

Miss Victoria Brisbin and Robert Lowden were attendants. Following the service the marriage party returned to New Castle where they were served a lovely dinner at the bride's home. Following the dinner, the couple left for a trip to New York state where they will spend some time. Upon returning they will make their home at Walmo.

Mrs. Dumbaugh was graduated from the New Wilmington high school in the class of 34, and Mr. Dumbaugh was a member of the class of 33 of the New Castle Senior high school.

FOR STATE'S YOUTHFUL OFFENDERS

ONE of the defects in the penal system is that first offenders are brought into close contact with habitual and hardened criminals in the prisons.

From these hard-boiled lawbreakers they learn many things about criminality which never entered their minds before they were incarcerated. The association increases the difficulty of rehabilitating the novices so that they may be good citizens when they are given their liberty.

It is this situation which leads many to claim our penitentiaries really are training schools in crime. The criticism is only partly warranted, of course, but still it has sufficient foundation to merit serious study.

Segregation of the various classes of convicts has been advocated and to a considerable extent that has become the custom. But conditions do not always permit complete observance of the plan.

One of the longest strides toward reformation of the prison system was made when steps were taken to separate, as far as possible, youthful first offenders from the confirmed criminals. The state of Pennsylvania has been one of the leaders in this movement, which is much to its credit.

An indication of the trend is seen in the rapidity with which the senate appropriations committee approved the suggestion that $75,000 be made available for construction of a detention camp at Huntingdon State Reformatory. The camp, if the plan is approved by the legislature and it likely will be, will accommodate 300 youthful first offenders, including minors who are now imprisoned at the Eastern and Western Penitentiaries.

It will be another step in the right direction and the comparatively small amount of money required, considering the results which may be expected, will be spent to good purpose.

PROGRESS, BUT NOT A CURE

Another step forward in preventive medicine, but only a step, is reported from Harvard University, where two scientists have found that the virus of influenza has been killed by contact with ultra-violet rays. While the experiments have been under way for five years it is too soon to predict their practical value but it is believed the air in hospitals, schools and auditoriums may be ultimately freed from dangerous germs, and thus a prolific source of infection may be successfully attacked.

Despite the advance in health education, people still continue to sneeze, with no attempt at suppression or restraint. As a result, a residue is left floating in the air, which is susceptible to attacking those who breathe it in. This is fundamental. The novelty is that the residue has been successfully attacked.

Dr. W. F. Wells and Dr. H. W. Brown, who have conducted the experiments, hope that some of the diseases which are transmitted through the respiratory tract may be checked by methods for purifying the air. If typhoid, smallpox, diphtheria and yellow fever can be practically eliminated, to mention but a few of the human ailments which have succumbed to the progress of medical science, there is room for hope that influenza and the common cold can be controlled. But the control is still in the early stage of experimentation.

PROTECTING OUR NATIONALS

Protection of Americans in war-torn Spain is an obligation of which our government is keenly aware.

In the nature of things the American Embassy and resident Consuls are calling on the constituted authorities to give protection to Americans. That, however, is easier said than done when civil war is raging in the streets of many cities. The Embassy at Madrid has been thrown open to Americans eager for the safety its extraterritoriality affords under the Stars and Stripes, but the food and water supply are threatened.

There is ample precedent for the use of armed forces to protect Americans, but the disaffection in Spain is so widespread that the effectiveness of any landing party would be about nil. Most instances in which American troops have been sent into foreign lands for this purpose have taken place in Latin America, although in the Boxer Rebellion in China in 1900 our troops joined the Allies in the march on Peking and participated in the protection of the "foreign city." Theodore Roosevelt threatened attack on Morocco with his demand of "Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead!" The Moroccan government, which had at first professed inability to be of service, sent out an expedition and rescued the American from the bandit who had held him for ransom.

Of late years when civil war has broken out, notably in Cuba and in China, our government has warned its nationals to move as speedily as possible to seaports where protection could be accorded them.

COURTING AND MARRYING

The claimed discovery of the Scotch scientist, who announced recently that, contrary to popular belief, opposites do not attract each other in matters of courting and marrying, seems to put an entirely new face on the whole institution of matrimony.

According to this savant, we really are attracted in courting and marrying by those who are most like ourselves. If that is true, matrimony at once seems put on a higher plane than it has been assumed to occupy throughout the ages. Humankind's opinion of itself being what it is, what greater compliment could the average person pay his mate than by marrying him or her, as the case may be? According to the Scotchman's theory, marriage really starts off on a basis of mutual admiration even more fundamental and compelling than almost any of us had thought was possible.

What we can not understand, however, is why, if the Scotchman is right, marriage was so much more stable an institution in those lavender-scented days when the swain was wont to begin the courtship by groaning to himself and others, "I'm not half good enough for her." Under the theory of likes attracting likes, he really was setting up the proposition that "She's not half good enough for me," which would seem to have been a poor foundation for matrimonial alliances that, nevertheless, usually lasted at least until the golden wedding.

And, on the other hand, why all the divorce mills in this present age, when marriage seems to be so largely a matter of mutual condescension and implies, if likes attract likes, the practical ultimate in mutual flattery?

However, the scientist may have based his theory on observations confined to his native Scotland, where, we are led to suppose, no thorough-going Scotchman ever took a lass to wife unless assured she was as like him as possible in the value she would place upon a shilling.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Business is peculiar.
By all rules of the game it ought to be at least as flat as ever; even more so, maybe.

It is traditional that trade and industry always are below par in a national election year. It also stands to reason that a serious crop failure makes times hard. The threat of large-scale labor trouble by good rights should be a depressing influence. Of course, wide-spread unemployment is, theoretically, bad for all classes.

AND BUSINESS IMPROVES!

Well!
This is an election year. The drouth, with its natural effect upon agriculture, is officially declared to have been the worst in the country's history. Bugs have eaten much of the crops that survived the dry weather. A big fight appears to be impending between steel employers and employees. It is likely to spread, too, as the vertical unionization campaign progresses in all lines of mass production. Unemployment has not been greatly reduced, either.
And business is improving like everything.

TREMENDOUS IMPROVEMENT

Real estate is moving. Building is picking up. Manufacturing generally is on the mend. The stock market is bullish. Retailers are thriving.

Not only government reports show it. They are open to the suspicion of being prejudiced in the interest of making out a good case for the administration. But financial and trade publications corroborate them. Business men's associations issue statements to a similar purport. Individual big business men hand out interviews to the effect that present conditions are gratifying; that's why the stock market is up.

The folk who broadcast this cheering information are not, with the exception of the government's own agencies, pro-New Deal.

To the contrary, most of big business remains bitterly "anti." When its spokesmen say that there is a great improvement in the times, they mean it. Indeed, they say it rather grudgingly, with the qualification that, but for the New Deal, the improvement would still be more pronounced and would have come sooner.

G. O. P. CLAIMS CREDIT

There is an improvement.
Why?—in the face of election, drouth, insects, incipient strikes, unemployment and a frightfully mounting national indebtedness?

There isn't any convincing answer that I know of.
To be sure, Republicans contend that confidence has been restored by a popular conviction that Governor Landon will be elected to the White House. However, Democrats contend the opposite. Even on the first assumption, I do not see why the country is so sure of Landon's election. My personal notion is that it is less than 50-50 betting.

And supposing he is elected. He still will have, for at least two years, a Democratic house of representatives against him.

I wouldn't call that such a return to pre-New Dealism as to justify much conservative enthusiasm.

WHAT IS ANSWER?

It is pointed out that the bonus payment has put a lot of money into circulation, that relief and miscellaneous boodoggery have added to circulation's volume, that the subsidizing of agriculture has further swollen the total.

Nevertheless, it is agreed that veterans have been rather economical with their bonus money.

Relief has been meager in comparison with normal incomes. Agriculture's subsidies have gone into a few hands—in million-dollar chunks in some cases.

The labor outlook continues more than ominous.

All the same, business is improving.

Will someone kindly account for it?

Here is one for Ripley—believe it or not—there is a bank located in Adams county, Illinois, that has no time or demand deposits; therefore no liabilities; no stocks; no bonds; no government obligations; no postal savings; no other investments. Absolutely nothing.

It has however a banking house and some fixtures listed with the auditor of public accounts of the state of Illinois at $5050; cash due from other banks $994.69; and loans and discounts listed at $3,538.37, a surplus of $3,180; and undivided profits of $403.06. It has a president and a cashier; just for the idea of saying they are in the banking business.

Mayor R. O. Johnson of Gary, Ind. said of the round-up of Soviet spies in Paris:

"We needn't take Soviet spying very seriously. It is usually directed wrong. Reminds me of the farmer, who said to his farmhand:

ARE you a constant borrower? Do you start out improperly equipped for the day or the evening? Do you frequently find it necessary to ask your friends to lend you a comb, lip rouge, powder puff or a handkerchief?

If you are one of these offenders, begin today to take account of stock before you leave home. For, even though your friends lend you what you have forgotten obviously without hesitation, they really are not very fond of the idea.

Many kinds of germs and diseases may be spread in this manner—colds, by the use of some one else's lipstick, scalp ailments from a borrowed comb, skin troubles from powder puffs.

For your own protection, do not make use of such items belonging to another. And remember, the one who lends them to you does so reluctantly, regardless of how much she thinks of you.

Union Party Platform
Not Liberal Measure
Some Things Omitted

By LESLIE EICHEL

Central Press Staff Writer

PERSONS DECIDING to vote for the Coughlin-Union party candidate for president, William Lemke, seem to be under the impression that the party has a liberal platform throughout. It may surprise them to examine the Union party's platform—for it is urged upon them as a panacea.

It resembles, to a degree, the National Socialist (Nazi) party platform before that party seized power in Germany. And the Nazi promises in turn resembled the promises of Mussolini's Fascists. All are extremely nationalistic, in a world already torn by nationalistic prejudices and hatreds.

The Union party's platform—which resembles the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin's principles for his National Union for Social Justice—is best studied from the standpoint of its omissions.

OMITTED

The Union party's platform mentions nothing in regard to:

Civil liberties.

Child labor.

Amendments to the constitution for social reforms.

Public ownership.

Housing.

Tenant farming.

Minimum wages.

Shorter hours.

ON OTHER HAND

It does, on the other hand, advocate a war conscription policy that looks as if it could put the entire people into the hands of a militaristic government.

Today's Yesterdays—July 27, 333 B. C.—At a pass near Issus, in Cilicia, 23-year-old Alexander the Great's Macedonian army met Darius III and his 600,000 Persian followers and utterly defeated them in one of the great battles of history.

Darius, considering himself invincible, went to hunt down the Macedonian invaders accompanied by his harem, musicians, dancers and the families of his officers. A sweeping cavalry charge around Darius' flank, led by Alexander himself, threw these camp followers into panic and put Darius' whole army in flight. Thousands were captured, including the Persian king.

Complaint Is Made To Council By Fee

Jack Fee appeared before city council at their meeting in the municipal building today and complained that following each storm surface water flowed into his property in West Washington street. He ascribed the nuisance to the alleged change by the state in the grade of the street several years ago. He also alleged that the water had weakened the sidewalk. Believes Erie Hammer Slayer Mentally Ill

(International News Service)
ERIE, Pa., July 27.—After a week of careful study, Dr. J. T. Strimple of Erie, today announced he believes Samuel C. Weed, Sunday School superintendent accused of beating his wife and two children to death with a hammer, mentally ill. Resting satisfactorily in a local hospital where he was removed following a turn for the worse said by doctors to have been brought about by an internal hemorrhage, Weed is awaiting the murder inquest scheduled for Tuesday morning.

Although District Attorney Mortimer E. Graham has asserted he thinks Weed is legally sane, predominant opinion here was that the man will never stand trial; that he will be adjudged insane and committed to Fairview hospital for the criminal insane.

A commission of three mental experts were to examine the prisoner as soon as he is removed from the hospital to the jail.

New Problem
For Councilmen

Because the city has taken over land formerly leased to Findlay Wilson for flying purposes, Councilman Joseph D. Alexander today requested councilman colleagues during their meeting at city hall to decide whether or not the city should instruct him to no longer use the field.

Alexander said he felt that if Wilson continued to use the field and some WPA workers were injured the city may in some way become involved in the liability.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath took the position that as Wilson's lease with the other parties had terminated and the city had given him no permission to use the field the city could not be held responsible. No action on Alexander's request for an opinion from the city solicitors was taken.

LOCAL WOMAN AND SMALL SON AMONG VICTIMS

survivor of the terrible crash. She is in a Hamilton hospital but will likely recover.

Crash On Crossing
The ten people were in the Schweizer car returning from a picnic where they had been enjoying the day. The crossing of the railroad is unprotected although the corner states that he has evidence that the engineer blew his whistle. The train was the Cincinnati-Detroit-Grand Rapids express. It is thought that Schweizer did not hear the approach of the train due to the crowded car. As he drove across the Federal road crossing the onrushing express hit the automobile tearing it almost apart and scattering parts for a quarter of a mile down the track. All the occupants except Mrs. Jenewein are thought to have been killed instantly. A little pet dog was found dead in the wreckage of the automobile.

Bad Angle
The grade crossing is at an angle to the railroad tracks. J. S. Black of Hamilton, O., driving about 150 yards ahead of Mr. Schweizer had crossed the tracks in safety but heard the crash. Stopping his car he saw the wreckage of the Schweizer automobile tossed high into the air. Earl Bley, living near the crossing said he saw the train and then the car as it drove onto the crossing. He witnessed the crash.

Less than an hour later the balance of the family party arrived at the crossing in a car driven by Walter Seward, and three sons, one of whom had intended to ride in the fated car but had not done so due to the crowded condition.

Earl Bley the eyewitness said the train was going at high speed. Conductor J. H. Melson and Engineer C. E. Garring of Port Wayne said they were running no faster than 35 miles per hour.

Visiting Family
Mrs. David Vogan of Haus avenue is a native of Hamilton, O., but about 14 years ago came to New Castle to care for a sick relative. While here she met David Vogan and later they were married. Mr. Vogan is a tin worker.

On July 4, Mrs. Vogan left for Hamilton, O., with relatives, taking with her little Charles Lee Vogan, 3, the baby of the family. About nine o'clock last night, Mr. Vogan received word of the tragedy and with his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Vogan, who resides with him, and the four children remaining in the family and two relatives, Jacob and John Seward, left for Hamilton, O., about one o'clock this morning.

The four children who lost their mother in the crash are Edna Vogan, 13; Vivian Vogan, 11; Lena May Vogan, 8, and Lawrence Vogan, 7.

Coroner Edward E. Cook of Hamilton, O., is preparing to conduct an investigation into the accident that wiped out nine of one family, representing 3 generations.

Pulaski Church Has Homecoming

Methodists Gather At Church
In Village For Special
Program Sunday

The Pulaski Methodist church of which Rev. Earl J. Jennings is pastor, held one of their most outstanding events on Sunday afternoon, when they observed "Home Coming Day" which took the form of a jubilee in recognition of the re-dedicating of their church which was recently completed.

Many of the original members of the church, who have belonged for thirty to forty years and upwards, entered into the days ceremonies, which attracted an assemblage numbering approximately 250. Services were held at 11 o'clock in the morning, at 2 in the afternoon and at 7 o'clock in the evening, when several guest speakers were heard, among them including the following:

Rev. Jennings was in charge, introducing each speaker, and he was ably assisted by Russel Michael, with the program of the day.

Rev. C. C. Baker, of Marionville, a former pastor of the Pulaski Methodist church, took part, giving a splendid address, as did the Rev. William Parsons of Crystal River, Fla., who also was formerly located in Pulaski. He had charge of the Presbyterian church of that community, previous to going to Florida.

Rev. Grant L. Mottern, Methodist pastor of the Sharpsville church, and a visitor of the day spoke fittingly, and J. R. Meek also gave a splendid address.

Attorney Charles R. Davis of New Castle was prominent among the speakers, and of further local interest was the address given by Mrs. W. H. Shipley of New Castle.

Special music was contributed by Mrs. Merle Boyd of Princeton, who pleased with a vocal solo, with Mrs. Francis Taylor, pianist for the day, playing her accompaniment. Arthur W. Meek of New Castle and Mrs. J. F. Myers of Pulaski gave vocal solos as the next feature, and later a trio composed of Mrs. Glenn Wilson, Mrs. Russell Michael and Miss Lois Kerr, pleased with their numbers.

A beautifully leather bound pulpit Bible was presented to the church by one of the teachers, Mrs. James Black, in behalf of the Esther J. Smith class. This was dedicated by the Rev. Grant L. Martin of Sharpsville.

During the morning service communion was observed, and at noon those in attendance were served a deliciously prepared luncheon and the evening another sumptuous menu was served. A silver offering was taken, with a nice sum being realized that was turned over to the church.

Guests were present from Crystal River, Fla.; Marionville, Youngstown, O.; Moravia, Niles, O.; Parkman, O.; Garrettsville, O.; New Brighton, Sharon, Parrell, Ellwood City, Brookfield, O.; New Castle, West Middlesex and other places.

Property Owners On Relief Rolls Expected To Pay

First Official Action On New Plan Is Taken At Court
This Morning

First official action in connection with the new plan of the county commissioners relating to persons on relief rolls who are owners of property, was taken at Lawrence county court this morning when Attorney William McElwee Jr. County Solicitor, presented a petition in court, asking that the county commissioners be named as custodians of the property of Ignatz Tabisz, of Union township; Bozo Gurcervic and Bob Yuerich, Bessemer and Stanley Herbert and Valeria Hriban, also of Bessemer.

It is set forth that the above persons, who are receiving aid from the county are the owners of property but as they cannot eat the property they must be kept. The appointment of the county commissioners as custodians, means that the amount which has been advanced to them will remain a charge against their property, until it is paid off, when the property will be released.

It has been found in checking over the relief lists that there are a number of people who own property, but who have been receiving aid. Heretofore, the amounts advanced have not been charged against the property. The new policy is to charge the amounts furnished against the properties. As soon as those receiving aid can pay off the debt thus incurred, the property will be released.

It is believed that the new rule will result in the elimination of some from the relief rolls. For instance in the case of an aged couple with children able to support them. It will be to the advantage of the children to support their parents and keep their property free of debt.

All those interested or previously enrolled at North street and Mahoning should report at Lincoln-Garfield on Tuesday at 7 o'clock.

NEW YORK, July 27.—It's Spain, Spain, Spain on the lips of the town today, for this city reacts with barometric sensitivity to upheavals in the Old World.

As this is written the outcome of the uprising is not certain, but all manner of people are being sounded out in the effort to get some line on real undercurrents and issues while Spaniards kill Spaniards in bloody civil war.

Benito Collada is a member of the board of directors of the Spanish Chamber of Commerce in New York. Besides that he owns El Chico, a Spanish restaurant in the Village, which is the favorite hangout of the local Spanish colony. He chats nightly with Spanish diplomats and consular officials, with members of the deposed royal family and with all shades of political opinion reflecting the lands of the olive, the grape and the sardine. I have seen the Count of Covadonga, heir apparent to the empty throne of Spain, sitting pale and preternaturally bright-eyed at a table there, hoping that the recent explosion at home might spell Restoration.

And so I went for a chat with Collada who makes annual trips to Spain, and asked him to tell me what the newest revolution was all about. For what they are worth, I give you his words; but I want to add further, before I do, that he is no typical night club proprietor. He is a liberal in the true sense, literate and inclined to take the middle-of-the-road view.

"Most intelligent Spaniards," he said, "in America and in Spain itself, take the view that the current uprising had to come, sooner or later. The infection was there and it was best to bring it to the surface. "I know all three of the Franco brothers," (Ed. note: General Francisco Franco is leader of the so-called Fascist counter-revolutionary forces.) They are resourceful, courageous and from their own view intensely patriotic men. Ramon Franco, you know, is the famous Spanish aviator, who made the flight from the United States to Madrid. He did not get there, but fell into the sea off the coast of Spain. He was brought to Spain and welcomed as a hero. Then he was thrown into jail.

"Why? Because he had used an Italian instead of a Spanish-made motor in his plane. He is, I think, in Washington, D. C., now. He frequently comes here and we are friends. I know his brother, Francisco, too.

"Francisco, I predict, will not try to emulate either Hitler or Mussolini if his forces are successful in the overthrow of the present Red government. I doubt, too, that he will inaugurate any movement to restore King Alfonso to the throne. He wants law and order and peace in Spain.

"The other night I told the heir to the Spanish throne, with all due respect to him and to his father, that there wasn't a Chinaman's chance of a restoration in Spain. The Spanish people will keep their republic, I think, after a temporary period of military dictatorship.

"The Spanish peasant and workman is not temperamentally a Communist. He never will be. He hasn't the typical Communist's greed for other people's possessions. Give him bread, wine and a guitar and he is happy.

"If this revolution is deplorable. Most of the waiters and the cast of the little show I put on here have brothers, sisters, fathers and mothers in the thick of the bullets over there now. But they take it philosophically. They know this thing had to come.

"If it is violent enough it may serve to shake some realism and action into those who will run Spain in the future. I believe it will take a long time for the civil war in Spain to quiet down, but out of it I can only hope for a better country."

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

MINISTER'S WIFE TIMID

"Dear Dr. Myers: One of your recent articles concerning people who are badly adjusted to society has prompted me to write to you. I have found your articles and pamphlets dealing with child training the most helpful and practical material on that subject I have ever seen. For that reason I feel that if anyone can advise me about my own social problem, you can.

"I am completely ill at ease with strangers. I have a perfect horror of being left alone with a person whom I don't know. I find it practically impossible to start, or carry on, a conversation with a stranger. "Even when I am with a group of friends I find it difficult to talk. The moment I realize that I have the floor and that the attention of the group is focused on me, I can feel my face becoming flushed and my speech becomes inarticulate and incoherent.

"Of course I know you are going to tell me that I have an inferiority complex. I realize that only too well, but can you tell me anything definite to do about it? I have read plenty of theory on the subject, but have never read of a definite method to follow. Is it possible that you can start me along on the road to recovery?"

Problem Serious

"My problem is doubly serious, due to the fact that my husband is soon to become a minister. He has an exceptionally attractive personality and can adapt himself with ease to any individual or group. For this reason I know that he will go far in his profession, and I am deeply concerned for fear I shall be a hindrance to him.

"If you can help me, Dr. Myers, I shall be eternally grateful to you. In any event, I shall be anxious to receive any comment which you may have to make regarding my case. I enclose a stamped and addressed envelope for your convenience."

I answered her letter of course, and about like this:

No doubt one of the traits in you which attracted your husband is your timidity. That amplifies his feeling of superiority. If he only knew he could do more than anybody else to help you gain self-assurance. Your letter bespeaks your good intelligence—no matter about degrees. With a mind so keen you should be able to discipline yourself in social courage and not allow other persons most of whom, including your husband, have far less native ability, perhaps, than you. You must lord it over you and appear so self-confident themselves feel inferior to you. That is the little trick they practice unawares to bolster up their own ego and to gain temporary satisfaction.

Make up your mind not to try to talk much in a group. Select a few words now and then and be satisfied with that. Find more pleasure at listening, and let others who enjoy talking do most of it.

As for the flushing of your face, that doubtless adds to your womanly charm. Let others fuss and gabble. Be content to relax and keep silent until you feel you have something you just have to say.

National Essay Contest Closes

State Winners In Contest Of Auxiliary V. F. W. Are Announced

Pennsylvania winners in the nationwide essay contest sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, have been selected by Mrs. Evelyn Woods, State department, chairman, assisted by a corps of competent judges. "What the Statue of Liberty Means to the American People" was the subject for the contest and many decidedly worthwhile compositions were submitted. Judging took place July 17, Mrs. Woods being assisted by a number of prominent local people and two from out of town.

Judges were Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of the New Castle schools, Attorney John S. Powers, Walter McKee, member of the Senior High School faculty, Mrs. Tempa Stickie, Americanism chairman of the local Harry L. McBride auxiliary, of this city, Myrtle Sutherland, Americanism chairman of the Allegheny County Council, and Mrs. Ellen Smith, past president of James Noble auxiliary, of Altoona, Pa.

Prizes were awarded: First, to Canton auxiliary, Canton, Pa. (Edith Hackett, essayist); Second, Uhlman-Horne auxiliary, Pittsburgh (Margaret Young essayist). Among the 29 compositions submitted, many were high class and the judging was difficult. Mrs. Woods is deeply appreciative of the aid lent by the several judges in making the final selection, and they in turn expressed pleasure in the honor extended them to serve.

From the winners in the various states of the Union, two will be selected in the final contest for national selection. Prizes for this latter group of two winners is decidedly worthwhile, a trip to France and a sum of $100 to help defray further expenses. The second winner will be rewarded with a trip to Bedloe Island, N. Y., and a sum of $50. In addition they will also receive gold medals, carrying the insignias of the V. F. W. and the Statue of Liberty.

Winners in the state contests will receive bronze medals similar to the gold ones.

LITTLE BEAVER

Harry Keeler was a visitor in New Castle this week.

Jess Young was a visitor in New Castle on Thursday.

Dale Crowl was a week-end guest with friends in Madison, Ohio.

Ben Wallace is spending a few days with friends in Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Martin were callers in New Castle last week.

Mrs. Marie Gordon and Jennie Lampus were visitors in New Castle on Tuesday.

Miss Grace Cory is seriously ill at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cory.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Renner and Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor were visitors in New Castle on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Crawford of Rogers, Ohio, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Farmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank George of Mt. Zion and Mr. and Mrs. William George of Negly, Ohio, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Farmer on Sunday.

Hugh Martin while returning from Petersburg, on Thursday, lost control of his car and it upset. He received a badly lacerated face and head and severe cuts and bruises. He was taken to a doctor in Petersburg and then returned to his home.

The barn on the J. J. Walker farm was completely destroyed by an unknown fire on Wednesday night about 11:30 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smahertor who resides on the place returned home from Darlington and put the car in the barn and were about to retire when they heard a funny noise and found the barn on fire. His car was burned, all other contents, also out buildings. Some insurance was carried on the barn.

FINKLE IS SENT TO MICHIGAN STORE

It was announced that Ben Finkle of East Washington street, assistant manager of Nobil's store for some time, has been transferred to Saginaw, Mich., where he will be manager of the company's store there.

Upon returning from a vacation, Mr. Finkle will depart to assume his new duties. Frank Crisci, of Croton avenue, has been promoted to assistant manager here.

Super-Highway Is Considered

May Be Built From Sharon To Hermitage—Damage Claims Are High

SHARON, Pa., July 27.—The Mercer county commissioners are expected to reach a final decision this week on the offer of the state highway department to construct a super-highway from Sharon to Hermitage, a distance of two miles, if the county will furnish the right of way.

Although they recognize the merits of the proposed improvement, county finances are expected to influence the board to reject the offer. Much of the land which would be needed would have to be taken from valuable residence and business properties, making the cost unusually high.

Officials of the highway department have planned two 20-foot traffic lanes, with a 20-foot island between, with all costs except the purchase of land to be borne by the state. The Sharon-Hermitage stretch is a section of the Sharon-Mercer highway, one of the busiest traffic arteries in the county.

Goodyear Nurse, 30, Is Killed By Train

AKRON, O., July 27.—Driving alone in a coupe, Gertrude D'Este, 30, of 1388 Newton Street, a nurse employed by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., was killed Sunday afternoon by a Baltimore & Ohio Railroad train at Bank Street crossing. Miss D'Este was thrown 30 feet by the impact.

Her father, H. Darrah of Meyersdale, Pa., was notified and her body was taken to Sweeney's Funeral Home after Coroner R. E. Amos had pronounced her dead. Engineer W. M. Canfield and Conductor W. L. Clifford said the train was going fifteen miles an hour.

VERSATILE CONVICTS

(International News Service) COLUMBUS, O.—Warden J. C. Woodard of the Ohio State penitentiary has a versatile "family". A 176-foot standpipe needed repairing recently and the warden thought outside aid would be needed. Before calling for help, Woodard went thru the inmates' personal records and found he had many laborers, including 100 stepladders—solving the painting problems.

Receives Word Of Death Of Relative

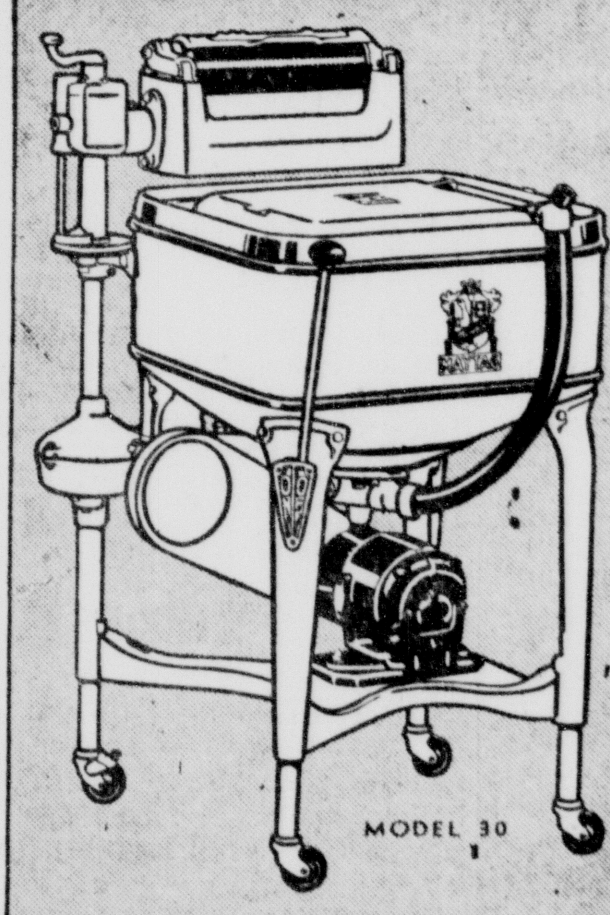

Word of the death on Sunday morning of Mrs. Edward Fisher, Adamsburg, Pa., had been received today by her niece, Mrs. William Merriman, 822 Butler avenue. Death was caused by a stroke.

Mrs. Fisher spent all of her life in Adamsburg and is survived by her husband and two children, Ondene and Adam. One sister, Mrs. Ida Fox, New Stanton, Pa., and two brothers, Frank Cronshore, Greensburg, and Otto Cronshore, Adamsburg, and four grandchildren and a group of nieces and nephews also survive. Another sister, Mrs. Harriet Yates Ward, this city, preceded her in death three years ago. Funeral services are to be conducted in Adamsburg on Tuesday, July 28, at 2 p. m.

DINING ROOM NEEDS LIGHT

The dining room needs to be well lighted, for in many homes the room is put in diverse uses. Sometimes it is used as the children's study, or mother may use it for a sewing room at least for a cutting room. It is the place where afternoon tea is served, or a buffet supper, or a formal dinner.

ALBERTA REEHER IS WED AT POUGHKEEPSIE

At the home of the Rev. and Mrs. T. Victor Scott of West Hebron, N. Y., a pretty wedding ceremony was solemnized July 24 at 4:30 o'clock, when Miss Alberta Reeher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Reeher of 514 County Line street, New Castle, became the bride of William L. Beveridge, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

The Rev. T. Victor Scott, brother-in-law of the bride, read the service, using the single ring ceremony. The exchange of vows took place before an embankment of ferns and summer flowers in the presence of the immediate families.

The bride was lovely in a shell pink lace gown, instead length, made on princess lines. Her accessories were in blue and her shoulder corsage was of yellow roses.

Miss Margaret Reeher, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, wore blue lace and a shoulder corsage of pink roses. William L. Beveridge, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., brother-in-law of the bridegroom, acted as best man.

Following the ceremony a delicious luncheon was served in buffet fashion. A large square tiered cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, formed the centerpiece. A pink and white color scheme was used.

Mrs. Beveridge was graduated from the New Castle high school in 1931, and from State Teachers' college, Indiana, Pa., in 1935. For the past year she has been supervisor of Home Economics in the Corsica Union high school, Corsica, Pa.

Mr. Beveridge was graduated from the Salem high school, Salem, N. Y., in 1931, and from the school of Electrical Engineering of the University of Alabama in 1935. He is connected with the DeLaval company of Poughkeepsie.

Late in the day Mr. and Mrs. Beveridge left for a short wedding trip through the New England States. Upon their return they will be at home in their newly furnished apartment, 236 Hooker avenue, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

EAST BROOK CLUB MEETS ON TUESDAY

East Brook Garden club will hold the July meeting in the form of a picnic Tuesday, July 28, at the home of Mrs. Vane Johns.

Dinner will be served at 12 o'clock following which an interesting program will be presented.

Alcanza Breakfast
Members of the Alcanza club will breakfast at Cascade Park Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock.

LARGE GROUP ATTENDS FISHER REUNION SUNDAY

Gathering in the grove of Cascade park Sunday afternoon, about 125 members of the Fisher family held their first annual reunion. A very appetizing menu was served by an efficient committee.

Following dinner, a business session was held at which time letters were written to those members who were unable to attend the reunion, and plans were completed for the next event which will be held next summer.

Officers were elected with Dorothy Fisher Parker named as president of the group.

During the afternoon games, swimming, and social chat were enjoyed. A program of singing was heard which included a number of songs which were written for the picnic by Miss Sara J. Fisher, and led by Julius Fischer of Sewickley.

Several special guests were present including the following: Morris Gordon, Beaver Falls, Mrs. Morris Cohen of Cleveland, O. Both of these guests spoke briefly to those present.

A great deal of the success of this outing was due to the untiring efforts of Miss Sara J. Fisher and Mrs. H. Frank.

Bride-Elect Showered.

Mrs. Frank Mundziak of 1330 Sheets street held a shower for her daughter, Mary G. Mundziak, who is to be married to Stanley J. Cole on August 12. Approximately 100 persons were in attendance from Pittsburgh, Butler, Ambridge, Ellwood City, Princeton and New Castle.

The guests bestowed the honoree with many lovely gifts and during the evening the guests enjoyed themselves by playing bingo and dancing.

A number of musical selections were rendered by Joe Verishuk at the piano and Andy Deloranzo playing the accordion.

At a late hour a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Anthony Mundziak, Mrs. Samuel Zubik, Miss Genevieve Mundziak, Miss Mary Kurdupski, Miss Jane Valentino, Miss Nina Genoni, Miss Katherine Zubik, Miss Betty Heichel, Mrs. John Heichel, Betty Heichel and Miss Murdock. Joseph Mundziak, Walter Mundziak and Raymond Fisher.

These furnishing entertainment included Mrs. Anna Senko, Mrs. Anna Shott, Anthony Siegel, Anthony Hopach and Charles Kolder.

J. F. F. Club

The J. F. F. club members will be entertained Wednesday evening, July 29, at the home of Edith Mariana, East Long avenue.

MATINEE EVENT FOR HARRISBURG GUEST

The home of Mrs. Edwin W. Crawford on East Wallace avenue, adorned with bright bouquets of roses and other summer flowers, provided a delightful setting Saturday afternoon, for a dessert-bridge affair.

Mrs. John Q. Stewart, of Harrisburg, the hostess' sister, graced the role of honor, receiving with Mrs. Crawford 24 guests.

After enjoying a refreshing and daintily appointed dessert, the group spent the balance of the afternoon at contract. The pretty favors fell to Mrs. F. F. Urey, Mrs. A. P. Treser and Mrs. W. H. Grove. Aides throughout the afternoon were Mrs. J. Cam Leibendorfer, Miss Anna R. Perry and Mrs. Gillis F. Falls.

Departs For California

At 6:30 a delicious dinner was served by the hostess, following which the guests adjourned to the lawn of the Cameron home and enjoyed a social evening. A shower of lovely gifts was bestowed upon the honoree.

Later in the evening, Mrs. Barton and her daughter Velma, accompanied by the members of the party, proceeded to the railroad station where they boarded a train for California. Mrs. Barton arrived in her home on Sunday evening.

Past Worthy Mistresses.

Mrs. Mary Rae will be hostess to the Past Worthy Mistresses club of the L. O. L. in her home on Pulkinson street Friday, July 31, from 2 to 4 o'clock.

J. DONATI ATTENDING CHICAGO CONVENTION

Mr. Joseph Donati of the Donati Music Co. left Sunday, July 26th, for Chicago, Ill., to attend the Musical Instrument Manufacturers convention at the Stevens hotel July 27 to 29. Huge exhibits of musical instruments will be displayed, showing new developments in musical instruments. While in Chicago, Mr. Donati will visit the Slingerland guitar, banjo and drum plant. Upon his return he will spend his vacation in Elkhart, Ind., to confer with officials of Martin Band Instrument Co., Indiana Band Instrument Co., and Pedler Clarinet, Inc., and also visit other musical instrument manufacturing plants. Upon returning to New Castle, Mr. Donati will bring good news and a huge stock of the most modern and improved instruments to the musicians and music lovers of Lawrence county and vicinity.

SURPRISE PARTY FOR MRS. BARBARA SMITH

Mrs. Mildred Allison, Harlanburg road, entertained 32 guests Saturday evening in her home in honor of her mother, Mrs. Barbara Smith, who celebrated her 54th birthday anniversary.

During the evening hours bingo was played and prizes were awarded to Robert Mitchell and George Cracken, for the men and Opal Allison, and Margie Walton for the ladies.

At a selected time a delicious lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. S. Emery, Mrs. Peg Wehr and Miss Frances Smith.

To climax the evening the guest of honor received many lovely gifts in a shower.

DIANE FOULKE AND FIANCE ARE HONORED

Miss Hazel Armstrong of Pearson street, delightfully entertained a number of friends in her home on Pearson street Saturday. The party was in honor of Miss Diane Foulke and Russell Lenning, whose marriage will take place sometime next month.

Games of various types were enjoyed with the playing of bridge being the main diversion. At a selected time a delicious luncheon was served at a table beautifully decorated in yellow and white tones. Following the lunch the honored guests were presented with a number of very lovely and useful gifts.

T. J. N. Picnic

Members of the T. J. N. club with their families to the number of 33 enjoyed a picnic Saturday evening at the Taylor and Miller cottage at Cottler Grove.

An elegant menu was served after which the group spent an informal evening with a variety of games. A similar affair will take place in August.

Arrangement committee for Saturday's event was composed of Mrs. Anna Johnson, Mrs. Ella Lamson and Mrs. Florence Mauck.

Caldwell-Park

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Leroy Park, whose marriage took place on Monday, July 20, in Cumberland, W. Va., are residing for the present with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Park, R. D. 7, Ellwood road.

The bride was formerly Virginia Mae Caldwell, daughter of Mrs. Ella Jane Caldwell, of Long avenue, this city. The Rev. Donald Hawkins performed the ceremony after which the young couple went to Rochester, Pa., for a few days returning to New Castle later in the week.

Birthday Honored

William P. and Bert Smith, of the Youngstown road, entertained a group of friends Saturday in honor of the birthday anniversary of their sister, Martha Gott.

A delicious dinner was served at 6 o'clock at a table arranged on the lawn. Garden flowers made an attractive centerpiece for the table. At the close of an enjoyable evening the honored guest was presented with a collection of lovely gifts.

Christening

The new son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn C. Brown, was christened William Glenn Brown at a ceremony held Sunday, July 26, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Roberts, 1613 Bradner street.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Mattox and son Bobby, Mr. and Mrs. Fred McConally, of Columbus, O.; Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Winkler, R. D. 2, and sons James Edward and Earl, daughter Lauretta Mae.

At Christine Home

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Christine of Washington, D. C., visited his father, John C. Christine of 341 Shaw street, over the week-end.

Their little son, Edwin C. Christine, 19 months of age, remained with Mrs. Christine, a daughter-in-law, who will care for him for the next two weeks when the local people will drive down with him to Washington.

Tigers Auxiliary Dinner

This evening the Tigers Auxiliary members will hold a tureen dinner in the grove of Cascade Park with husbands as special guests.

Those planning to attend will meet at the club rooms promptly at 7 o'clock and in the event of rain they will remain and hold the dinner there.

"PROVED" HONEST

The man applied for a position in a banking establishment. His appearance wasn't prepossessing and references were demanded. After some hesitation he gave the name of a teller in the firm's employ. This teller, he thought, would vouch for him.

The president sought out the teller and asked him whether the applicant was honest.

"Honest?" the teller said. "Why, his honesty's been proved again and again. To my certain knowledge he's been arrested 10 times for embezzlement, and every time he was acquitted."

DISCONCERTING

A speaker at a men's dinner was much chagrined to note that during his address all of the guests, with the exception of the man at the right, had left, one by one. When he concluded, and sat down, he remarked to his neighbor, "I am very happy to see that you enjoyed my speech enough to hear it through."

The man replied: "Enjoyed nothing. I am the next speaker."

Household Finance Customers

3% • 2%

on the first $100 of balance

on the unpaid balance over $100

Now, for example, the first monthly payment on a loan of $200, including principal and the monthly charge, is $15.00. Under the Pennsylvania Small Loan maximum the first payment is $17.00. This is on the basis of a 20 month loan. There is a similar, worthwhile saving on each of the 20 payments.

Table Shows Household Finance's New Low Rates

Here are the actual average monthly rates on simple interest basis permitted by the Pennsylvania Small Loan Law compared with Household's new low rates when loans are paid in 20 equal monthly installments.

Size of Loan	Household's New Low Rates
$ 50	3.00%—(Pennsylvania lawful rate 3.50%)
100	3.00%—(Pennsylvania lawful rate 3.50%)
200	2.74%—(Pennsylvania lawful rate 3.50%)
300	2.54%—(Pennsylvania lawful rate 3.50%)

HOW TO BORROW From Household Finance

Household Finance helps thousands of families to get a fresh start on their personal finances. Here are the particulars of a Household Finance loan:

- You can apply to Household Finance, if you can make regular monthly payments, whether or not you have furniture or a car—whether you are single or married.
- Monthly payments are small, so that they can be handled without undue strain.
- No co-makers or endorsers necessary. (Husband and wife sign together.) No wage assignment required.
- Quick action. Loans made same day if application is made before 10 a.m.
- Monthly rate on unpaid balance is less than the lawful maximum on all loans.
- You can repay at any time and save charges.
- Employer or friends will not know of your loan unless you tell them.

All interviews in private consultation rooms. Your problem will have our sympathetic attention. Call today—or phone for appointment. Representative will call at your home to make arrangements, if you prefer.

State Highways Run Gamut Of All Sorts Of Weather

Past Year Has Subjected
Concrete Roads To Severe
Tests

ROADS EXPLODED DURING HOT SPELL

HARRISBURG, July 27.—Pulling a new trick from his pack—a pack which has produced sub-zero temperatures, a severe thaw and record-breaking flood damage to test the wits of the Department of Highways since the first of the year—the Weatherman adds a new twist by "stretching" all concrete highways of the state a total of more than seven miles in the recent heat wave.

This latest "weather whim" forces travelers to drive an extra five feet per mile on concrete roads, a negligible detail to the motorist but a source of much concern to the State Highway Department.

These observations were made today by Warren VanDyke, Secretary of Highways, in describing highway damage resulting from excessive high and low temperatures.

Although it is impossible to make an accurate estimate of the cost of this damage until detailed reports are received from each county, the secretary points out that this newest "whim of the weatherman" adds to the abnormal expenses of a year which includes a bill of $5,772,359 for snow removal and approximately $10,000,000 for flood damage to highways and bridges.

Extreme high and low temperatures affect all types of paving but while tar or macadam surfaces soften and "bubble," concrete expands and "explodes" when the limits of expansion joints are reached. These joints are placed at approximately 75-foot intervals in concrete paving and are designed to compensate for normal expansion and contraction. They are open spaces, one-half inch in width, between abutting sections of paving.

This space is filled with a tar material sufficiently plastic to expand as the concrete contracts, and contract as the concrete expands. Traffic keeps the material pressed firmly into the joint assuring a smooth driving surface.

Incidents have been reported where the "explosions" have been just that—being accompanied by sharp reports and a showering of broken particles as the pavement became too great for joints.

Most of the damage, however, has been in "bulges" where unusual expansion caused by the extreme heat forced the pavement upward at joints. This action accounts for the "stretching" of mileage.

During the peak temperatures—as high as 110 on the open road—"bulges" of as much as 42 inches were reported in concrete pavement; and tar material construction required constant attention as it softened and "bubbled."

Fatally Injured Under Car Wheels

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., July 27.—Raymond George, son of Mr. and Mrs. Griffith George, died in the Providence Hospital today from injuries and shock received when run down by a freight train of the Erie and Ashtabula division of the Pennsylvania railroad.

The boy was sitting on the bank above the railroad watching the boys swim in the Beaver river below late yesterday. He was seen to slide down the bank into the path of the freight train as it thundered past.

Grass stains may be removed from clothing by washing in warm water to which a teaspoon of ammonia has been added. If this does not remove the stain, cover with bicarbonate of soda and let stand until the stain disappears.

Annual report of the city's operation during 1935, as compiled by City Controller Earl Wimer and Finance Director J. Leon Fink shows the rental received from the city for rooms occupied by firms in the city building, as follows: W. E. Ferver, $1,800; New Castle Hardware company, $657.20; Knights of Pythias lodge $40.00 and Sons of Veterans, $200.00. The room formerly occupied by the New Castle Hardware company is now occupied by another firm and the Sons of Veterans have new quarters.

Fines and forfeits collected by Charles B. Mayne while he was mayor in 1935, totalled $2,146.00, according to the city's report for that year. Other receipts collected by his department follows: dance license $495.00; dance permits, $1,858.00; sign licenses, $27.00; sign inspections, $19.00; telephone toll charges, $21.28; cost of meals refunded, $4.90; pawn book, $2.50; insurance, $2.00 and damages recovered, $32.75.

Charges made by the city upon persons or utilities for street opening permits last year net the city $248.75. The city collected $247.50 from the sale of coal and coke licenses in 1935, according to the report of city finance officers. The health department receipts for the year 1935, totalled $37.50, derived from sale of milk permits, rubbish permits and restaurant licenses.

Grocers Picnic On Wednesday

Annual Outing Expected To Draw Large Crowd To Cascade Park

Wednesday, July 29, is the date of one of the biggest outings of the summer season at picturesque Cascade Park.

The day after tomorrow is the date when the grocer, butcher, and residents from all parts of Lawrence county will wend their way to New Castle's beautiful resort to enjoy the eighth annual picnic of the Lawrence county Retail Grocers and Food Dealers.

Regarding the coming event, General Chairman J. W. Rupert said: "Everything is in readiness for the eighth annual picnic which is expected to be the biggest and most successful we have held so far. We extend everyone a cordial invitation to the affair."

Rupert announced that the general committee will meet at 328 Neshannock avenue for the purpose of checking final plans, this evening.

GOVERNOR LANDON'S ACCEPTANCE SPEECH

In reading Governor Landon's acceptance speech, nothing struck me so forcibly as his expression of implicit faith in Divine Providence. In opening his address, he said: "In accepting this leadership, I pray for divine guidance to make me worthy of the faith and the confidence of which you have shown in me." That which expresses the profound religious faith of the governor, no one who knows him can doubt.

If we look through the public addresses of the president, we can find no such expression as this.

Another point that forcibly struck me in the governor's speech was almost the entire absence of the pronoun "I." This is such a contrast to the president's speeches that it would seem to indicate a fundamental difference in the character of the two men.

May not this difference in the two speeches illustrate a characteristic distinction between the philosophy of the two candidates. It is by such unconscious expressions that we can judge of the character of individuals.

Is not the character of the two men aptly illustrated by Mr. Roosevelt, "I, the president" and Mr. Landon, "we, the people."

Can Qualify 12 Children

Mrs. Matthews Kenny, Of Canada, Enters 12 Children In Stork Derby

(International News Service)
TORONTO, Ont., July 27.—Mrs. Matthews Kenny today asserted she can produce records that will qualify 12 of her children in the Millar will stork derby.

If Mrs. Kenny's assertion is substantiated by official documents, she probably will win the $500,000 prize, residue of the estate of Charles Vance Millar, eccentric Toronto lawyer. The 10-year-race for Toronto mothers concludes next October 31.

"I have given birth to 12 babies that will qualify," she said. "I won't say which are now living. I'll produce the necessary records at the proper time."

Leads By Two Babies.

If her claims are correct, Mrs. Kenny is two babies ahead of Mrs. Arthur Timlack. Mrs. Grace Baginato and Mrs. John Nagle both have nine children eligible and are expecting another soon.

Other contenders have ignored Mrs. Kenny's claims to leadership. They contend that the births were not registered, as required by terms of the will.

Mrs. Kenny is expecting another birth but the child is not expected to be born before the race ends.

"I would like to have six and beat Mrs. Dionne," she said. A plan to split the prize among the leaders is ignored by Mrs. Kenny.

Private Initiative Badly Undermined

President Of American College
Of Underwriters Discusses Depression

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 27.—Over 100 per cent increase in the cost of living brought on by effects of the depression was forecast here recently by Dr. S. S. Huebner, president of the American College of Underwriters.

Speaking before the local Chamber of Commerce, Huebner said: "Some time ago we took 40 per cent of the gold out of our dollar. I doubt if anyone ever has the courage to put it back. We are going to have a rising cost of living, inevitably."

"How silly it is to have these disputes about the sales tax. They are two kinds, direct and indirect. Any one who knows anything about the subject of taxation knows that in the last analysis taxes are adjusted and put into the final price of things we eat, wear and use. We will be fortunate indeed if the cost of living does not increase more than 100 per cent."

"Human beings may be equal from a political standpoint, but economically we are not. The greatest value in the community is the life value asset, and the greatest thing behind that life asset is private initiative. The extent to which we have undermined that in recent years is appalling."

"We have these depressions about every 20 or 25 years, regardless of political parties. We will continue to have them for years to come. They are due to the speculative nature of man and human nature can't be changed in a century."

SHARON, Pa., July 27.—Five thousand persons were here Saturday for the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the Protected Home Circle. Fifty drill teams representing circles in 12 states, paraded through the business section to the site of the new home for the cornerstone laying.

The old home was destroyed by fire April 21.

S. H. Hadley, supreme president, delivered the principal address.

Following the ceremonies the visitors held a basket outing at Bufl Farm. The celebration opened Friday night. The initiatory degree was conferred on a large class. Speeches were made by Mayor Harold H. Burton, Cleveland; Mayor J. Fred Thomas, Sharon; and Attorney Neil McGill, Cleveland.

The Journal, published at Philadelphia, has a circulation of more than 1,200,000 monthly. A signed declaration by Graham Patterson, publisher, heads the August issue.

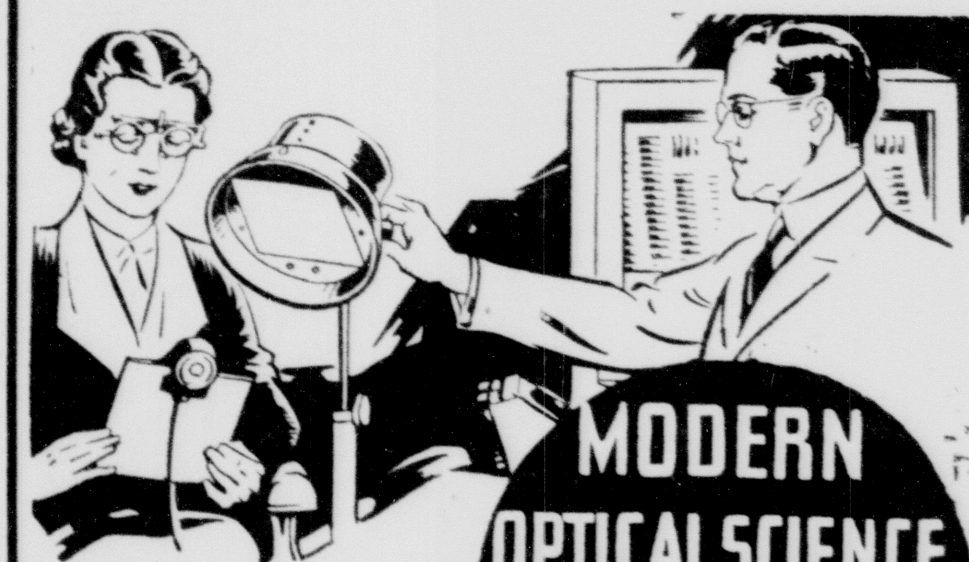

REPORT EFFORTS TO EVADE EGG LAW

HARRISBURG, July 27.—Widespread attempts to evade the state fresh egg law were reported today by J. Hansell French, secretary of Agriculture.

The law prohibits selling eggs or advertising eggs for sale as "fresh eggs," "strictly fresh eggs," "henry eggs," "new laid eggs," or under descriptions of similar import if the eggs do not meet certain requirements set by the law.

Dealers have been trying to evade the law by using either orally or by placard such descriptions as "local eggs," "fancy eggs," "every egg absolutely guaranteed," "just from the country," "Grade A," "guaranteed—country eggs," "we brought them as fresh," "eggs good as fresh and guaranteed," "country eggs," "not strictly fresh, but fresh as you can get them," "good country eggs," "not strictly fresh but country gathered."

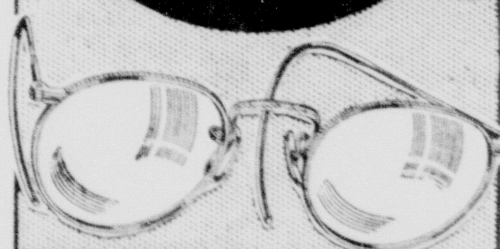

It seems to be a rule. The more you admire a married man or woman, the greater your disappointment when you meet the mate.

RELIEF CRISIS REMAINS WITH LEGISLATURE

Resume Sessions Again Tonight

Legislators Hope For Solution Of Deadlock At Conference Of Committee

JOBLESS ARMY STAYS AT CAPITAL

By ARTHUR H. WAKELEE
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, July 27.—Climaxing the most intensive hunger march in the history of the commonwealth, representatives of Pennsylvania's half a million needy today moved to force an immediate solution of the relief crisis.

Their ranks swelled by the addition of an ever-increasing number of fresh recruits from all sections of the state, the jobless army that has occupied the capital since last Wednesday prepared to go before the legislature tonight with a new demand for a resumption of state relief assistance. The needy have without state aid for nearly a full week because of the exhaustion of funds.

Legislators returning for the thirteenth week of the emergency session found the jobless army they left last week augmented by families whose children joined in the cry for "adequate relief." Youngsters, arriving with their parents, were to be utilized according to jobless leaders for the fight to effect a solution of the relief tangle that has tied up legislative action throughout the special session.

Problem Up To Committee
With little left for the general assembly to do, the problems of the session were in the hands of conference committees slated to meet before the reconvening of the legislature this evening.

Visitors to the capitol over the week-end found the muralled rotunda and marble corridors of the main building occupied by the thinned ranks of the jobless. Men dozing in the corners of the high, domed central capitol room, while their children played about nearby, provided a sharp note of contrast to the dignity and historic significance of the building's interior.

A hard rain that threatened to continue throughout the day added to the discomfort of the unemployed. It meant they would probably remain either indoors at the state farm show building, on the city's outskirts, or in the capitol, leaving any demonstrations until tonight.

Few Minor Bills
Only a few minor bills were listed for calendar consideration of both branches of the assembly and interest of legislators and the jobless was focused on the conference groups as they prepared to begin deliberations that may result in solution of the legislative problems and bring sine die adjournment by the end of the week.

Controversial questions remaining to be solved, including the unemployment insurance and mothers' assistance measures, took second place to the current relief crisis, however, for both members of the legislature and the unemployed. If emergency funds are not provided by tomorrow, the state's 560,000 needy will have been without state aid for a complete week.

The only direct relief available has been that offered the "hunger marchers" here in Harrisburg, and administration action providing $4,000 in federal fund balances to give food and shelter to the needy army resulted in Republican charges that the "hunger march" was being encouraged by Gov. George H. Earle. Relief officials said only $1,400 of the $4,000 remained and that this probably would be exhausted today.

With some delegations leaving as others arrived over the week-end the marchers remained about 1,000 in number. Precautionary preparations were taken by officials, however, for the jobless legions expected to arrive today.

On Court House Hill

No large bequests were recorded in deeds filed for probate in the office of Register and Recorder William R. Hanna during the past week. For the most part the decedents left their property, real and personal, to the family without mentioning any specific amounts. Some small bequests were made.

In the will of the late J. C. Blevins all his property is left to the widow, Margaret Blevins, who is also made executrix.

In the estate of the late Camillo Colalucia one-third of the estate goes to widow Mary Colalucia, with the balance divided between the following children: Romeo, Joseph, Julia, Armini, Martha and Beula Valetti. The Union Trust Company is made the executor.

The estate of Emma E. Logan is left to a daughter, June Logan Patterson, who is made the executrix. The estate of Margaret Waller goes to the husband and children, with Charles R. Davis as executor.

The estate of J. J. W. Morrow is left to a son, John Linton Morrow, and John Linton Morrow, Jr., with John Linton Morrow as executor.

As fine a flock of charley-horses as you ever saw are on display today by various and sundry members of the Lawrence County Bar association. The mullish game on Saturday caused the lot of them.

Rushes in the county treasurer's office this part of July are common, but nothing like this year's rush has been seen since about 1931. The receipts for July will be a new high, it is thought. Beginning today a collector will sit in Ellwood City Hall for the purpose of collecting taxes from the southern end of the county. Only current taxes can be paid and the cards must be produced.

The marriage license bureau seems to be affected by the weather. Two or three per day seems to be the rule, and most of them come from outside the county. Ohio people still come over, in spite of the three-day law which is in operation in Pennsylvania.

Despite the fact that the national elections are still several months off, rumbles of the forthcoming municipal election are heard around the courthouse. Potential candidates for sheriff, district attorney, register and recorder, city council, city controller and school board are oiling up the shoulder gears and doing some early training in hand-shaking.

The county commissioners are having some difficulty getting rid of some unseated land which was taken over for taxes some years ago.

Two Men Injured In Highway Crash

PROSPECT, Pa., July 27.—Garnet L. Lutz, Harmony, suffered a cut on the arm and a chest injury and George Leslie, Glenshaw, suffered a cut over the right eye, when a rear-end collision of trucks they were driving occurred about three-quarters of a mile from Prospect on the Whitestown road.

According to Highway Patrolman D. B. Miller, Leslie operating a truck of the Columbia Gas Company, had stopped the machine in the road. Lutz, driving a truck owned by Howard R. Scheidtmantel, Harmony, R. D. 1, struck the rear of the Columbia truck.

Mercer Woman Meets Injury

MERCER, July 27.—While engaged in burning waste paper, on her property, Mrs. Samuel Moore, East Butler street, received a severe abdominal wound when a cartridge placed accidentally in the wastebasket exploded. The cartridge was believed to have been an old one and had been placed with other waste material in the container for burning. Her condition at first believed serious was confined mostly to shock and after treatment at The Mercer Cottage Hospital was able to return to her home.

Special Session Has Acted On About Half Of Subjects Listed

By ARTHUR H. WAKELEE
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

HARRISBURG, July 27.—Of 19 subjects listed by Gov. George H. Earle for consideration during the special session of the legislature, work has been completed by the assembly on only eight, a survey revealed today.

The 50 per cent record of work accomplished during the 12 weeks of the session to date, however, does not represent an accurate picture of the actual legislative achievements. A number of the original 19 subjects contain several features and work on some of these has been ended although the subject as a whole has not been enacted into law.

Three flood control measures, for example, have been passed, but they do not constitute the entire program of flood control recommended by the governor in his call for the session. This situation is also true of relief, where some tax bills have been passed, but the settlement of the whole program still remains in doubt.

None of the eight subjects already approved by both branches of the legislature contain controversial features and they were all expected to pass readily. The remaining eight subjects, however, constitute the essential problems of the session and on which little harmony was anticipated by rival political factions in the assembly.

Laws Enacted

The legislative subjects contained in Governor Earle's call which have been enacted into law thus far are:

1. Providing for the abatement of tax penalties and interest on taxes imposed by the state's various political sub-divisions, poor districts and school districts.
2. Refunding of certain bonded indebtedness of the state to obtain lower interest rates.
3. Validating municipal bond issues.
4. Authorizing chattel mortgages for the relief of flood victims whose real property was damaged or destroyed.

5. Legislation to eliminate cruelty to wild animals exhibited for commercial purposes.

6. A series of Philadelphia measures including one to permit the city to sell tax anticipation notes.

7. Appropriations for the expenses of the special session.

The eighth measure provides for appropriate legislation for the commemoration by the state and its citizens for the 150th anniversary of the adoption of the U. S. constitution, and the 300th anniversary of the earliest settlement of the commonwealth.

In addition to the first seven subjects above, Governor Earle has signed 20 other acts, including three tax bills estimated to raise $29,000,000 in revenues, and the three measures relating to the flood control program. He also has signed an old age assistance bill, one of the social security program measures included in the call for the session.

Dr. D. L. Rosenthal, Brownsville, Pa., optometrist, has reopened the office of his late brother, Dr. H. H. Rosenthal, in the Greer building.

Located in Brownsville for almost 25 years, Dr. Rosenthal comes here to take over the eye specialist work his brother carried on for close to 17 years.

Dr. Rosenthal has been associated with and active in Brownsville social affairs. During the World War he served with the 433rd motor transport corps, resuming his practice when the war ended. He is a past chancellor commander of the Brownsville Lodge No. 357, Knights of Pythias, a member of the Odd Fellows lodge No. 51 at Brownsville, a member of the A. Kramer Action post of the American Legion and the Brownsville Rotary club. He was chairman of the Emergency Educational Recreation committee for Fayette county.

Santander May Be Destroyed

Rebels May Blow Up Important Seaport City Of 72,000 Souls

ABOARD U. S. S. OKLAHOMA, Off Hendaie, France, July 27.—Santander, a seaport of 72,000 souls, and one of Spain's most important manufacturing and commercial cities, will be blasted off the face of the earth if the rebel columns of General Emilio Mola reach its outskirts.

The rebel defenders' intention to blow up the city is "common knowledge" of the terrified populace, according to the reports of nine Americans who were removed from the besieged city along with 30 from Bilbao aboard this battleship. Tremendous supplies of dynamite have been stored in the City Hall.

Labor Hall and other buildings seized by the leftists in Santander, and fuses will be touched off the moment rebels march into the town.

Eleven civil guards who joined the rebel cause, murdered the mayor of Reinosa and his secretary a few days ago, it was learned.

In speedy retaliation the rebels slaughtered the civil guards who marched through Reinosa waving their bloody uniforms as a warning to other insurgents.

Spain's richest man, Juan March, who was once imprisoned by the leftist government, is now in France and according to all information available here, is pouring his tobacco millions without reserve into the rebel treasury.

Ask Protection For Embassies

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 27.—Acting in concert, foreign diplomats in Madrid today asked the Spanish government to accord full protection to all embassies, legations and consulates with complete freedom of communication with their respective governments.

They also requested adequate food supplies be guaranteed. It was understood the government acceded, expressing desire to protect all foreign representatives to the limit of their ability.

BISHOP DENIES HE IS OPPOSED TO ROOSEVELT

(International News Service)
ROME, July 27.—Bishop Michael J. Gallagher of Detroit today issued a statement denying he was personally opposed to re-election of President Roosevelt.

His statement followed a declaration upon his arrival at Naples giving qualified approval to the stand taken by the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, he said in part:

"The fact I uphold Father Coughlin's rights to 'fuse' to his best judgments does not mean I am personally opposed to Roosevelt or any presidential candidate."

"As a matter of fact I prefer Roosevelt's attitude on many questions to the gold standard proposals of Landon" (Governor Alfred M. Landon, Republican presidential candidate).

Olympic Coaches In Controversy

Head Coach Lawson Robertson and E. C. Hayes Disagree on Don Lash

ATHLETES START SERIOUS TRAINING

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service
Sports Editor

BERLIN, July 27.—America's Olympic track coaches, who battled during the tryouts and again aboard the Manhattan coming over, began bickering again today as their runners and jumpers prepared for their first hard training work since leaving home.

Chief Coach Lawson Robertson's dissatisfaction is concentrated chiefly on E. C. Hayes, of Indiana University who, thinks Robertson, is putting Don Lash, his Indiana protégé, through his paces a little too hard.

Larry Snyder, who was left off the official coaching list in a row with Robertson, thinks the Olympic village track is too soft, and that it may cause pulled muscles amongst the sprinters.

Snyder, incredibly enough, is even dissatisfied with his Jesse Owens from Ohio State, who is just good enough that he did 300 yards in 30 1-5 seconds last night, for an unofficial world's record.

"Oh, he could do that any time he wants to," was Snyder's comment.

Asks For Shift

"However," Snyder added, "I consider the track at the village to be dangerous. It's composed of sandy loam, which is hard on the legs muscles. I asked Robertson to shift the track practice over to the Olympic sports field, but so far have had no success."

Although Robertson is also alarmed because Hayes is working all his lads at top speed, he is leaving the matter entirely up to Hayes. Hayes says it is his plan to work Lash hard today and tomorrow and then taper off. The remainder of the 12 Americans who will participate in Sunday's opening events are, on the other hand, beginning to accelerate their training pace today.

Get Down To Business

The American tracksters, with few exceptions, have now settled down to serious endeavor. There were, however, some American Olympic shields visible in Berlin night clubs only a few hours before this was written, and there were three more shields in Berlin's Unter Den Linden, where they don't belong.

The Olympians thus out of bounds were mobbed by autograph-seekers, and they caused one of the wildest street scenes I have ever beheld. Crowds milled about the sidewalk in the center of the parked street and climbed all over the Americans' cars. The scene was made more unreal by the panoply of banners overhead, so profuse as to give an exotic impression.

Ryantown Trips West Pittsburgh

Herno Relieves Carey And Holds West Pittsburgh Safe, Score Is 12 To 4

WOULD LIKE TO PLAY FIREMEN

Ryantown baseball team defeated West Pittsburgh at the Ryantown field Sunday afternoon, 12 to 4, with the sixth ward boys pounding the ball hard for 17 hits off Tonsetic and Hill.

West Pittsburgh got to Carey in the first inning for four runs when the Ryantown pitcher suffered an injured back. Herno took up the mound duties and held the visitors safe for the rest of the game. The Ryantown boys hopped on Tonsetic and Hill for 17 hits, led by Kerr, Coughlin and Herno, together with Campbell.

The Ryantown boys would like to arrange another game with the Sixth Ward Firemen for the Ryantown field. The fans are getting anxious to see another Fireman-Ryantown battle.

CHAMPION MEETS INDIAN TONIGHT

Everett Marshall, World's Heavyweight Wrestler Takes On Chief Sunooka, Victor In Local Bouts At Centennial Field; El Bafert Opposes Podolak In Semi-Final; Two Other Bouts.

Everett Marshall, heavyweight champion of wrestlers and Chief Sunooka, Cherokee Indian grappler, are ready for their catch-as-catch-can bout at Centennial field tonight. Marshall is in good condition having wrestled Friday night in Kansas City. Since defeating Farmer McLeod last week the Indian has been in training at Columbus and hopes to give the champion stiff competition. When Marshall crawls through the ropes it will be the first time a heavyweight wrestler has appeared in local competition here. The Indian was picked as Marshall's opponent due to his strength and bulk. There are four bouts on the card, the first of which will start promptly at 8:30 p. m.

According to some wrestling sages Marshall is one of the best who has worn the crown. If this be true, he must be some grapple as wrestling has had Gitch, Hackenschmidt, Lewis, London, et. al. Marshall wrestled for years before he received a chance at the title and when he did, he lost to London in a bout which went more than three hours and which drew a $32,000 gate at Philadelphia. Later, he was crowned champion and will show his titular prowess to those who have seen him in one of the best moulded athletes in the world and while fans expect Sunooka to display his best stuff, Everett probably will retain his crown.

One feature of the card tonight is the total weight of the wrestlers. All excepting two are heavyweights and the combined poundage of all is 1,773—less than 300 pounds short of a ton of human adverbs. Marshall will enter the ring weighing 225 pounds and the Indian will

Eleanor Jarrett Turns Reporter

Banned Swimming Star Gives Own Story Of Olympic Prospects

(Editor's note: Mrs. Eleanor Holm Jarrett, American backstroke champion and Olympic veteran, has been dismissed from the American Olympic team caused by an unprecedented furore, has consented to furnish her expert opinion of American Olympic hopes to International News Service. Her first article follows.)

By ELEANOR HOLM JARRETT

(Copyright, 1936, by International News Service)

BERLIN, July 27.—Having turned critic instead of competitor, I do not wish to appear too critical, but I must say that our American women swimmers do not feel too sanguine over the Olympic outlook.

This is not because I am off the team. After all, I could have won only the backstroke, not the whole team title.

We are sure of only two titles—Mrs. Dorothy Poynton Hill in the platform diving and Katherine Rawls in the 100-meter free style.

In the meantime, the American men look an absolute cliché. My estimate of the women's team is based on the theory—watch the performances of the Dutch.

Faster Starts.

They do not have faster watches but faster starts, going off on their toes while we start flat-footed as specified in the Olympic codes.

Miss Ven Ouden came to Los Angeles with amazing times for 100 to 400 meters, yet she was beaten by Helen Madison in slower time. Miss Ven Ouden seems cinched now, as Miss Rie and Miss Mestenberg in the backstroke, but perhaps the Olympics will tell a different story.

However, this will not affect America's chances greatly as our women are weaker than at Los Angeles. The important thing, perhaps, is that the Dutch actually succeeded in winning no women's titles four years ago when they looked almost equally good in advance.

Lenore Will Win.

Lenore Kight Wingard has a fair chance to upset Miss Ven Ouden in the 400 meters, otherwise we may take few swimming titles. In the backstroke, I like Alice Bridges, better than Mrs. Edith Morrison Segal because the former is a strong race competitor under fire.

Foreign women have no chance in the diving for several reasons, including their style, grace and appearance. Their style is too precise and jerky, lacking our rhythm, and they lack American slimmness, which catches the eye.

Incidentally, we never won an Olympic breast-stroke and will not.

No wonder people have little faith in reformers. They have been reforming man for thousands of years and look at him.

Brooklyn Team Comes To Life

Beat Pittsburgh Pirates In Double Header On Sunday Afternoon

GIANTS AND REDS IN EVEN BREAK

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 27.—Something has to be done about the Brooklyn Dodgers. Consigned to the bottom of the National League by all the laws of reason and what-have-you, Casey Stengel's semi-pros have suddenly started making a few gestures in the direction of seventh place. It's all very disconcerting. Is nothing sacred?

Yesterday the Dodgers disguised themselves as big leaguers so effectively that they frightened the Pittsburgh Pirates into losing two games and dropping forthwith from third to fourth place. The scores were 1 to 0 and 4 to 3. And, just to make the picture even more incongruous, they accomplished the miracle the hard way... waiting until the ninth inning in both games before pushing the winning run across. Van Lingle Mungo and Red Lucas hooked up in a great pitching duel in the opener, with the Brooklyn right-hander having a shade the better of the argument. Ed Brandt pitched the Dodgers to victory in the nightcap for his fourth victory against 10 losses.

Giants In Even Break

The Dodgers' big city brethren, the Giants, could get no better than an even break with the Cincinnati Reds, but the double hitting administered to the Pirates enabled them to exchange places in the standings with the Pittsburghers. The Giants took the opener, 5 to 4, with all the color of a ten-twenty-thirty meller-drammer, providing the season's first triple play, and staging a three-run rally in the last of the ninth. In the nightcap, however, the Reds got off to an early lead at Gabler's expense and were never headed. The score of this game was 5-2.

Blanked 4 to 0 by the Phillies in the first game of a twin bill, the Chicago Cubs got a terrible revenge in the finale, blasting out a tremendous 18 to 5 conquest. Bucky Walters, reformed Philly infielder, held the Cubs to two hits in the opener.

Yanks Check White Sox

In the American League the New York Yankees checked the forward rush of the Chicago White Sox by taking two games from them in Chicago amid astonishing shower of pop bottles. The scores were 12-3 and 11-8. The pop bottle barrage, unparalleled for intensity, took place in the second game. Umpire Bill Summers was struck by a bottle and painfully, although not seriously hurt. Lou Gehrig hit his 29th and 30th home runs.

Jimmy Fox kept just a step behind Gehrig in the home run derby, hitting his 28th and 29th, as the Boston Red Sox crushed the Detroit Tigers, 10 to 3, to make a clean sweep of their three-game series.

Buck Ross of the Philadelphia Athletics held the Cleveland Indians to six hits in the first game of a double-header, as he mates pounded out an impressive 13 to 0 victory. The Indians came back to take the second game 8 to 5 behind Johnny Allen, who chalked up his sixth consecutive triumph.

The St. Louis Browns scored their first victory of the year on their home lot over the Washington Senators in the finale of a double-header. The score was 9 to 3. The Senators took the opener, 9 to 2.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Australia, which has gained the Davis cup challenge round for the first time since 1924, has been in the challenge round 12 times—1907, 1908, 1909, 1911, 1912, 1914, 1919, 1920, 1922, 1923, 1924 and 1936. Australia (as Australasia) won the cup in 1907, 1908, 1909, 1911, 1914, 1919.

Wes Ferrell seems unable to beat his old team, the Cleveland Indians, this year. The Tribe has taken the Boston star in four out of five games this season.

Tom Sharkey, one of the most formidable heavyweight fighters of his time, was really small compared to modern heavies. He was only 5 feet 8½ inches tall.

The Cleveland Indians have two catchers and two right fielders who are hitting above .300. The catchers—Billy Sullivan and Frankie Pytlak. The right fielders—Roy Weatherly and Bruce Campbell.

One of the British Olympic 1,500-meter race entries is named William Shakespeare.

Leilani Manai, light heavyweight wrestling title contender, is a native of Hawaii.

Pitching par excellence is the feature of an indoor baseball league in Lakewood, O., where the sport is played under the lights at night. Five pitchers already this season have hurled no-hit, no-run games.

Jim Rippel, rookie New York Giant outfielder, has four different nicknames: Rip, Flash, Dash and Redhead.

rounds of 18 holes were played by American golfers in the double holiday of July 4-5, according to an estimate in a golfing magazine.

First Baseman George McQuinn may replace old Sunny Jim Bottomley at the initial sack for St. Louis Browns. McQuinn is now with the Toronto club.

George Herman Ruth hit only 16 homers with the bases full in his career, but did it at least once against every team in the league. Nine of the homers with the sacks loaded were hit by the Bambino in New York.

Joe DiMaggio, New York Yankees, hit safely in 62 consecutive games while playing with the San Francisco Seals.

Contracts for a heavyweight title fight between James J. Braddock, world's champion, and Max Baer, fighting at the Madison Square Garden bowl on or about September 30, may be signed today or Tuesday, according to reports from New York. The Twentieth Century club and Madison Square Garden have decided to jointly promote the bout.

Manager Chuck Dressen of the Cincinnati Reds, has levied a $200 fine against Pitcher Paul Derringer for balking in the tying run for the New York Giants in the ninth inning of the first game at New York Sunday. The manager said Derringer is too experienced a pitcher to do a trick like the one he pulled. Dressen said Derringer should have thrown the ball to first when he made a motion like he was going to.

Al Gainer and John Henry Lewis, the latter the light heavyweight champion of the world, will end strenuous training today or Tuesday for their titular battle Thursday at Pittsburgh. Jack Johnson, former world's heavyweight champion, who will handle Gainer, reports Gainer in the acme of condition.

Paul Chouteau, French swimming star, completed a 45-mile swim from Santa Catalina Island to the mainland at 2:50 p. m. P. S. T., yesterday, according to Los Angeles dispatches. It was his fifth attempt. He landed at a point near Topanga canyon after crossing the channel in 33 hours and 28 minutes. He was timed by A. A. U. officials.

Sylvan Heights Tumbles Poland

Led by Jimmy Pagley, who finished with a sparkling round of 72, the Sylvan Heights golfers defeated Poland, O. club, 34½ to 7½, in an exciting match played here yesterday.

Emil Mancine finished his match with a fine score of 72. O'Brien set the pace for the losers, finishing with a 75. This was the second triumph within the past few weeks for the New Castle "niblick swingers" over the Ohiolans.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By Central Press
Between the erect, triangular ears of Granville, son of the mighty Galant Fox and Gravit, may rest, as result of the Arlington Classic, run July 25, over the Arlington course, Chicago, the crown of three-year-old champion for 1936.

Granville makes his bid for top racing honors in the valuable mile and a quarter fixture against a field that shows a star from most of the big time stables. The Belair Stud star must match strides with such fast steppers as John Hay Whitney's Mr. Bones, E. R. Bradley's Bow and Arrow, Hal Price Headley's Hollywood, the Greentree Stable's Memory Book and others.

The absence of Bold Venture, Kentucky Derby and The Preakness winner, from further competition this season, gives Granville a big chance to become the champion three-year-old if he wins the Classic.

Attention for this race has largely centered on Granville, Mr. Bones and Hollywood, largely because they finished one-two-three in the Belmont Stakes. Only the finish photograph picked the difference between Granville and Mr. Bones at the wire.

Aside from the race itself, the performance of Granville and Mr. Bones against each other will furnish an interesting sidelight—they were so close in the Belmont.

Other horses liked by the railbirds appear to be Memory Book and Bow and Arrow, already mentioned, and E. K. Bryson's Carveola, E. D. Shaffer's Floradora and Warren Wright's Count Morse.

Since the 1929 running of the Classic, when Blue Larkspur was the victor, a notable line of champions has emerged from the big Arlington park racing center, located just outside the gates of the city of Chicago.

Gallant Fox was the winner in 1930; Mate took the honors in 1931; Gusto was victor in 1932; Inlander in 1933; Cavalcade in 1934; and Granville's stablemate, Omaha, in 1935.

The thoroughbreds will be shooting at a gross prize of more than $37,000 in the eighth renewal of the Classic.

Qualifying Round For City Title Starts August 1

Battle For New Castle Golf Title Will Soon Get Underway

Qualifying round for the New Castle championship golf title, 36 holes, will be played between Saturday, August 1, and Sunday, August 2, at Sylvan Heights, Captain V. Smith announced this morning.

Any one in the city can play. Golfers entering are asked to get in touch with Capt. Smith or the caddy master so as to arrange for the playing date.

The Fannins defeated the Cunningham A. C. 16 to 9 in a Class B softball league game at the Lehigh Field. The Fannins had 14 hits off of Pack and Reznick, while the Cunninghams could not hit Kendra very effectively. Lawry featured the game with a homer.

Shenangos, first-half champs of the Class B softball league met and defeated the B. V. M. team of Ellwood City on Sunday afternoon. The score was 9 to 8. Rod Pezzone was the winning pitcher. The Shervymen would like to book games with the following teams—Mahoning A. C., Box Factory, Nobils, Bonnetts, Radiators, Croton and the Knights of St. Vitus. For games with the Shenangos call 4049 R and ask for Al Cozza.

The Marcellas softball team defeated the Boosters 8 to 5 in a game at the B. & O. Field Saturday morning. Carm Conlose allowed the Boosters but seven hits. The losing pitcher was Basille.

Shenango Midgets won their 20th victory of the season at Gaston Park Field Saturday by upsetting the Elks.

Tennis Stars In Seabright Tourney

(International News Service)
SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 27.—Paced by Donald Budge, the red-headed California youngster who is Uncle Sam's number 1 singles performer. Now that Wilmer Allison has gone into retirement, and Carolin Babcock, Wightman cup ace, is out of the picture, the American tennis firmament started play today in the forty-ninth annual invitation tournament of the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket Club.

At least half a dozen of the selected top-notchers faced opposition definitely of the upset variety. Gene Smith, a fellow Californian, figured to be the easy enough for Budge, but Sidney Wood, No. 2 on the men's honor list, was none too sure of getting past Walter Senior, the coast newcomer who topped Wilmer Hines at Longwood last week, and Ernie Sutter, younger brother of the famous Cliff, loomed as a formidable obstacle for No. 4 favored Gene.

Manuel Nor did Hal Surface, rated eighth, look upon the veteran Manuel Alonso as a push-over, for all the former Spanish Davis Cup ace's many years.

Three Firemen
Die In Crash

Accident Occurs As Firemen Are Returning From Ellwood Celebration

ACCIDENT OCCURS
NEAR WARRENDALE

ELLWOOD CITY, July 27.—Tragedy overtook one of the volunteer fire companies that took part in the Ellwood City firemen's parade during Saturday afternoon.

Enroute to their home in Brackenridge, three volunteer firemen from that place were killed when their truck overturned on the Perry highway near Warrendale.

The truck swerved to avoid a collision and overturned as a result, according to reports received here.

The dead: Albert Engelman, the driver, killed instantly.

Paul Eastland, 26, of 848 Eighth avenue, Brackenridge, died shortly after admittance to St. Francis hospital.

Gus Scalia, of 311 Pine street, Brackenridge, died in the office of Dr. Lewis Etter, in Warrendale.

Engelman, pinned under the wreckage, was dead when reached. He died of a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Scalia was taken with Engelman to a doctor's office, where he died of a broken back. Charles Yeast, 26, of 901 Sixth avenue, Brackenridge, one of the injured, was taken to the Allegheny Valley hospital at Tarentum, where he was reported suffering from a possible fracture of the skull. His condition was serious.

Sam Keller, 35, of Springdale, received lacerations and bruises. He was treated by Dr. Etter and sent home.

The truck, in which the men were riding, was one of the smaller and speedier of the Pioneer Hose Company of Brackenridge. The regular driver, Harry Rupert, son of the former burgess of Brackenridge, had remained in Ellwood City for a banquet held for the visiting firemen.

Yeast and Paul Eastland were returning to the Allegheny Steel Company in Brackenridge, where they worked on the night shift.

Happy Hour Class
Has Annual Ham Fry

ELLWOOD CITY, July 27.—One of the most enjoyable of the many social events of Saturday took place at Ewing Park when members of the Happy Hour class of the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church assembled for their annual ham fry. Husbands of the members were guests this year and Rev. and Mrs. Charles Bell of the New Castle road were special guests.

A most delicious menu of appetizing foods accompanied the savory ham which was served under the direction of Mrs. Jesse Harper and Mrs. Jane Friday. Mrs. C. V. Friday, Mrs. William Travis, Mrs. Wilbur Barnett and Mrs. Elmer Yoho were in charge of the general arrangements.

Games and contests of a wide variety held the attention of the guests throughout the evening with Mrs. Thomas Berger, Mrs. C. K. Meyers, Mrs. Ella Shaffer, Mrs. Sharp Johns and Mrs. Charles Wilson, in charge of the various features.

The next regular meeting of the class will be held on Thursday evening, August 6, with the place to be later announced.

Dinner Honors
Birthday Event

ELLWOOD CITY, July 27.—In honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Joseph Matheny a number of friends, members of the Rock Point group, gathered at her home on the Ellwood-Wampum road to aid in celebrating the event.

A prettily appointed table with covers arranged for 21 guests was centered with a nicely decorated birthday cake. The guests were served a most delectable dinner by Mrs. Carl Worrell, Mrs. Alice Pappas and Mrs. Harry Gabler.

The hours were passed in a pleasantly informal manner and before departing for home the honor guest was presented with an assortment of very nice and useful gifts as mementos of a happy birthday.

CLASS EVENTS

ELLWOOD CITY, July 27.—Members of the boys' class of the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church, by Allan Berger, and the girls' class, taught by Mrs. Thomas Berger, will hold a combined picnic tomorrow afternoon and evening at Ewing Park.

Misses Frances and Doris Worrell will be hostesses to members of the Swastika class of the same church when they gather Tuesday evening at their home on the Ellwood-New Castle road for the regular July meeting.

ROXBURY REUNION

ELLWOOD CITY, July 27.—The tenth annual reunion of the descendants of Upton and Polly Roxbury will be held on Wednesday, July 29, at Rambler's Rest. It will be an all-day affair with picnic menus at noon and the evening hour.

Parade Of Firemen
Concludes Convention

ELLWOOD CITY, July 27.—Climaxing the three-day convention of the Beaver County Firemen's Association, several hundred firemen marched through the principal streets of the city, Saturday afternoon, in a demonstration of the latest and newest in modern fire-fighting equipment.

Led by local flag-bearers, N. Shaffer, R. L. White and C. L. Wiltrout, the procession moved past several thousand spectators that lined the city's thoroughfares. At the new city building-in-construction a reviewing stand had been erected for the judges who selected the best displays.

Those that evaluated the fire equipment were Chief A. B. McEldown of the New Castle Fire Department, Chief Fred Hill of the Evans City Fire Dept., and Chief Richard Timmons of the Beaver Falls Fire Dept. Two local men helped judge the bands and drum corps, A. Bert Croft and Harry L. Clarke. The third judge was from Rochester, Joseph H. Goetman. R. J. Dennis Schill was the announcer.

Due to a previous ruling representatives of the Ellwood Fire Department were not competing for prizes. However, Ellwood had its share of glory, for the juvenile drum and bugle corps of the V. F. W. post carried off honors as the best appearing junior drum and bugle corps. In addition the Shelby firemen were adjudged victors of the moisture dispute Friday evening.

Among the twenty neighboring communities' representatives was

Mains-Greenham
Wedding Saturday

ELLWOOD CITY, July 27.—Among the loveliest of the July weddings was that which took place on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in the Park Gate Baptist church when Miss Catherine Mains, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Mains, Sr., of North Ellwood Heights, became the bride of Donald Greenham of Lawrence avenue.

The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. F. R. Schillinger, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends. The single ring ceremony was used.

The bride, charming in a beautiful gown of white chiffon with white accessories and she carried an arm cluster of white lilies. Miss Louise McMillen of this city was chosen as bridesmaid and she wore a pretty gown of pink chiffon and carried pink rosebuds.

Burton Baker of this city served the groom as best man.

Following the exchange of vows a wedding dinner was served members of the bridal party. Rev. Schillinger and a number of intimate friends of the couple at the home of the bride's parents. An artistic color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the appointments and the traditional tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom centered the bride's table. Mrs. Mains was assisted in serving a delicious dinner by her daughter, Mrs. John Wright.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Greenham have a host of friends among the younger folks in this vicinity who wish them "bon voyage" on the sea of matrimony. The groom is employed at the Beaver Enameling company.

Dispensing with a wedding trip for the present they are now residing in a furnished apartment in First avenue.

French Clan
Annual Reunion

ELLWOOD CITY, July 27.—Coming from New Castle, Beaver Falls, Struthers, O., and this vicinity, fifty members of the French families assembled on Saturday at Ewing Park for the annual reunion of the descendants of the late Aaron and Anna French.

At 1 o'clock the group partook of an appetizing picnic menu consisting of the delicacies of the season. The hours were devoted to conversation and renewing of family associations. Horse-shoe pitching was the popular pastime of the day.

Mrs. J. L. French of Wurttemberg was the oldest woman in attendance and J. A. Rapp of Wurttemberg, the oldest man; while Nancy Lee Koach, aged thirty-nine, was the youngest. Laurence French of Ewing Park will be in charge of the arrangements for the reunion in 1937 which will be held on the last Saturday of July at Ewing Park.

Of New Building

Many Notables Present At Big Event In Ellwood City Saturday Afternoon

DUNN, SCOTT AND
ECKERT SPEAKERS

ELLWOOD CITY, July 27.—Streets near Ellwood City's new municipal building were lined with hundreds of people Saturday afternoon who witnessed the laying of the cornerstone with a special program. The affair was carried out in an impressive and conspicuous manner with many notable participating.

Burgess Russell T. Sitter presided on the occasion and introduced the distinguished guests. Among them were Mayor Charles E. McGrath, Councilmen J. L. Pink, J. M. Rice, Orville Brown, Sheriff Edward Pritchard, Hon. W. J. Eroe, Hon. James Keelo and George Bollinger, of New Castle.

Burgess Sitter also introduced Contractor Louis Heller of the Heller Brothers, the government resident engineer, Mr. Homer, the government inspector, Mr. McCready, Architect B. J. McCandless of this city, Councilman J. P. Menace, chairman of the Special Building committee, and President of Council A. J. Howell. Burgess Sitter stated that this was another fine building added to the High School, Hospital, Public Library and its churches.

Special music for the occasion was provided by the WPA orchestra which played at various stages of the program. A number of entitled Rhapsodie Russe was under the direction of Harry Hammond.

Burgess Sitter then introduced President Howell who introduced J. Jay Dunn, vice-president of the National Tube Company, in behalf of the Borough Council and people of Ellwood City. Mr. Dunn is one of the city's foremost citizens.

Mr. Dunn told of the gradual but certain rise and growth of Ellwood City. He told of the foresight of a school board president William McKim who played an important role in the planning of the city many years ago. Mr. Dunn then placed a copper box containing various civic documents, in the cavity where the cornerstone was to lay. He then placed the mortar and put the cornerstone in position.

The first speaker of the day was Walter E. Scott, project engineer, of Harrisburg, who told of the work being done all over the country by WPA. Ellwood City's municipal building was one of 22 in the state, the speaker declared. This is the second project in this city sponsored and financed by the federal government. Not long ago an 18-room addition to the Lincoln high school here was completed.

After some music again by the WPA orchestra the principal address of the day was delivered by the Hon. Charles R. Eckert, congressman from this district, who congratulated the people of Ellwood City and their borough council for their public spirit in this enterprise.

He praised the city for its splendid school system and equipment, and stated that this was another forward step in progress for Ellwood City. The new municipal building is a symbol of man's reason, unity of society, human progress and peace and good will. It will help gauge public conduct and social justice. He hoped that the building would be a monument to public spirit, clean politics, a better government and social order. He urged the observance of the Golden Rule to enjoy the blessings of life and peace. The speaker closed with an appropriate poem, "Sail On, Oh Ship of State," from Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

The program closed with a vote of thanks and appreciation in behalf of the city by Burgess Sitter for all those having an active part in participating in the day's program. Rev. J. A. King of this city then pronounced the benediction. The invocation had been given by the Rev. A. M. Stevenson.

Violinist Not Bitter Toward

Imprisonment

IS RELEASED
AND EXONERATED

EDITOR'S NOTE: International News Service herewith presents the first detailed first person story of Mark Wollner, internationally known concert violinist, who figured prominently in the investigation into the mysterious murder of Helen Clevenger, 18-year-old New York University co-ed. After having been held six days in jail for questioning Wollner was released and exonerated. In the following article he tells his reaction to the ordeal.

By MARK WOLLNER
Concert Violinist of Asheville, N. C.
(Written Expressly for and Copyright, 1936, by International News Service)

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 27.—I have just been through an ordeal which would try the soul of any man. I have been in the spotlight in connection with the mysterious murder of Miss Helen Clevenger. No one deprecates this sad occurrence more than I do. I never met the young woman and never heard of her until suddenly, to my great amazement, I was drawn into the case.

Caused By Gossip
Gossip — neighbor gossip — and nothing else was responsible for the good name of Wollner being emblazoned on the front pages of newspapers everywhere. I have been proud of my name as well as my art.

I feel no resentment against these neighbors whose story to the authorities were wholly erroneous. The truth is on the night Miss Clevenger was slain in the Battery Park Hotel at 1 o'clock of the morning of July 16, I was home in bed, retired between 11:30 and midnight. I spent much time earlier talking with Miss Mildred Ward on the front porch of the Ward home, where I was a roomer.

Was Fast Asleep
I did not get up the next morning until between 7 and 8 o'clock. The terrible crime in the Battery Park Hotel was committed in the meantime. At the very moment when some one was beating and shooting this young girl to death, I was fast asleep.

I did not object when they took me to the county jail because I knew I was innocent. I received a telephone call from my good friend, W. H. Rymer, who is a piano dealer in Asheville, that the sheriff wanted to see me. I was getting ready to go with Mr. Rymer to the sheriff's office when they came for me.

Six Days In Jail
Six days I spent in jail. I had a clear conscience. I had nothing to worry about. I felt I was in safe hands. I never had any inclination to censure the law enforcement body. I knew they had a difficult problem on their hands. It was their indispensable duty to leave not a stone unturned to solve this crime.

In jail I asked for my violin. It was brought to me. It was the source of my greatest consolation at a time of great distress and embarrassment. I enjoyed softly playing compositions of the great Johann Sebastian, Bach, Schubert and Paganini.

First Presbyterian
Picnic On Tuesday

The church and Sunday school picnic will be held at Cascade Park for the First Presbyterian church members, Tuesday, July 28, at 6:15 o'clock, which will be the form of a basket affair. Each family and various groups will take well filled baskets and the usual provisions for such an outing.

Louis B. Round is general chairman of the event, and he will be assisted by the following: Harry L. Elder, transportation with Miss Elder in receiving reservations; Mont L. Magill refreshments; H. J. Prugh Jr., athletics, featuring volleyball, horseshoes and other events, including mushball games. The McKinney Class vs. Martin Class will take place at 4 o'clock and at 6:45 the First Baptist vs. First Presbyterians will be called.

The days program will be supervised by John B. Waddington, Marvin B. Dinsmore and Ralph T. Jordan. All members of the family will participate at this annual outing.

ARRESTS ON SOUTH SIDE
Mrs. Ellen Manning, colored, of 24½ East Long avenue, was arrested on a charge of being the proprietor of a disorderly house at 11:30 p. m. Saturday by Lieutenant of police George Kennedy and police aides. Seven others were taken into custody. Mrs. Manning was released upon a fine of $25.00, one inmate paid a similar sum and six visitors were released on $5.00, forfeits. Boisterous talk caused the police to make the raid.

Minor Traffic Accidents
Numerous Over Week-end

Traffic police at city police headquarters Saturday and Sunday received reports of several automobile accidents. Most of the cars involved were damaged. The collisions occurred in different parts of the city.

Herman McConnell, 119 Orchard street, Ellwood City, reported his car and one driven by Ralph Phillips, 409 Park avenue, were in a collision at 10:30 p. m. Saturday near the Shenango river bridge, West Washington street.

Blanche C. Smith, 925 East Morton street, reported that she was driving at 10:25 p. m. Saturday, east on East Washington street near Riley's store and that H. K. Glenn, 906 Marshall avenue, also was driving in that direction. There was a car double parked and Glenn attempted to pass around the machine which was parked double and a collision between her car and that of Glenn occurred, she reported.

James H. Watt, 733 Chestnut street, told police he was operating an auto east in Market alley, off South Mercer street and said there was a car parked in a lot. His machine struck this car at 7:10 p. m. Saturday, Watt reported.

Paul Sheeran, 1102 Croton avenue, reported he was travelling west on Apple way and a car with Pennsylvania license 90L23 ran into Sheeran's car causing the latter machine to strike a car with Pennsylvania license 1321C. The accident occurred at 9 a. m. Sunday, Sheeran reported.

S. A. White, R. D. 2, said he was driving his car from the curb at Brennen's market in East Washington street and said his car struck a machine operated east by M. M. Rosenthal of Meadville, at 7 p. m. Saturday.

Daniel A. Davies, 910 Winslow avenue, reported that at 11:50 a. m. Saturday he was going east on Washington street at the Diamond when a car carrying Pennsylvania license 434D7 attempted to cut in ahead of his car and struck the running board of Davies car, the latter declared.

Delbert Denniston, 923 East Washington street, told police that at 11:50 p. m. Saturday, he was driving east on Washington street at the Diamond and while cutting into traffic, struck the running board of a car with Pennsylvania license 765E4.

Harry Criscl, 1103 Croton avenue, reported that at 11 a. m. Saturday, his car was going east on Market alley at the rear of the Fountain Inn. He stopped, he reported, at a stop sign. He claims he was making a left turn and a machine going south on Cochran way was struck by his car.

Cars driven by Peter Nail, R. D. 1 and Frank Nocera, 306 East Long avenue, were in an accident at 6:45 p. m. Saturday. Nail reported his machine struck the car of Nocera which was parked on East Reynolds street, east of South Mill street. William Nail was arrested on a charge of suspicion but Peter Nail, a brother said he was driving at the time of the accident. William Nail was released by police on a forfeit. The case will be disposed of today by city authorities.

Large Crowd At Services At Calvary Gospel Tabernacle On Sunday

The Calvary Gospel Tabernacle on the East Side to which some hundreds of people have been attracted since its dedication June 14, was filled again Sunday evening, as Rev. and Mrs. W. F. Rawlins of Los Angeles, California, began their weeks series of meetings.

After the pastor, the Rev. R. J. Fredericks introduced Rev. and Mrs. Rawlins to the large audience, a spirited song service was entered into with the Rev. Rawlins leading. He was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Rawlins who is an excellent Gospel musician. Special sacred selections were played by Mrs. Rawlins on her piano accordion and vibraphone. She is also a soprano singer of renowned ability.

Following the musical program, a feature of every service, Rev. Rawlins brought a most impressive sermon having announced as his subject "The Hands of Jesus".

Rev. and Mrs. Rawlins do a great deal of open air work in the cities throughout the country, by means of a large gospel car constructed expressly for this type of Christian work. It has an observation platform at the rear from which they play, sing and preach to open air crowds.

There will be services every night this week at the Tabernacle, with the exception of Saturday, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Overturms Bus;
Saves Passengers

Driver Prevents Bus Going
Over 250 Foot Precipice
Near Johnstown

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 27.—Coolly and calmly, Clary Worthington, 33, of Derry, the driver, early today headed his huge Scranton-Pittsburgh Greyhound bus into an embankment, overturning the heavy vehicle but saving its passengers from a death ride over a 250 foot precipice, according to Corp. William Tebelin, of the Pennsylvania State police.

Nine of the 23 passengers were detained at the hospital for treatment although none was reported seriously hurt.

The bus apparently went out of control while descending a mile and a half steep grade into Johnstown on route 53, according to Tebelin, one of the passengers. It was Tebelin who advised Worthington and gave him suggestions as he sought to bring the swaying bus into control again. Most of the passengers were asleep and unaware of the drama being enacted until the heavy vehicle upset with a crash.

Starting the descent on the Frankstown road hill, where all vehicles must go into second gear, Worthington found the rear end swaying although he was traveling only 10 miles an hour, according to Tebelin. He tried breaking first and then applied more gas, but neither could pull the bus out of its swaying.

Upon advice of Tebelin, he headed into the steep bank as the bus gained a momentum of about 20 miles an hour.

The rear end swung across the road and the 22 passengers awoke in a mild panic as the bus upset. All were rushed to local hospitals where several were found injured to such extent they required more than dispensary treatment.

One man suffered fractures of the ribs, another a deep gash on the leg and several women suffered shock, according to hospital attaches.

The accident was blamed by the driver and Tebelin on the slippery roadway as a result of a terrific rain and electrical storm through which the bus had labored for 18 miles. As the bus hit the hillside, Worthington switched off the ignition. Kicking out the windshield and windows, he helped the 22 passengers from the bus with the aid of Tebelin, who is stationed at Rockview.

Worthington ran almost a half mile into Johnstown to summon help while Tebelin administered first aid.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 27.—Three hours and five minutes were cut today from the speed record of the North Atlantic crossing by the new Cunard liner Queen Mary but she will not claim the blue pennant of speed supremacy which remains with the French liner Normandie.

The Queen Mary, steaming 3,098 miles from Cherbourg breakwater, crossed in 4 days, 8 hours and 37 minutes at an average speed of 29.61 knots an hour. Her best day's run was 760 miles, last Saturday.

The Normandie, traveling 3,192 miles—94 more than the Queen Mary—from Southampton Nab, crossed in 4 days, 11 hours and 42 minutes. Her average speed was 22.64 knots—03 better than the English vessel.

In disclaiming any title to the speed pennant, but announcing he will try for it, Sir Edgar Britten, master of the Queen Mary, said: "We haven't any new world's record and we are not claiming the pennant because we are not entitled to it. The Normandie crossed on the long track. We crossed on the short one. We weren't trying for the record."

The Queen Mary, steaming 3,098 miles from Cherbourg breakwater, crossed in 4 days, 8 hours and 37 minutes at an average speed of 29.61 knots an hour. Her best day's run was 760 miles, last Saturday.

The Normandie, traveling 3,192 miles—94 more than the Queen Mary—from Southampton Nab, crossed in 4 days, 11 hours and 42 minutes. Her average speed was 22.64 knots—03 better than the English vessel.

In disclaiming any title to the speed pennant, but announcing he will try for it, Sir Edgar Britten, master of the Queen Mary, said: "We haven't any new world's record and we are not claiming the pennant because we are not entitled to it. The Normandie crossed on the long track. We crossed on the short one. We weren't trying for the record."

(International News Service)

Revival tent meetings will be launched Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the tent on Neshannock avenue by the Pentecostal Holiness church. It is announced by the Rev. Charles A. Bailey of Sharon, a former New Castle man, who is widely known for his exceedingly fine meetings in many states.

The meetings will be held each evening for an indefinite period of time, beginning at the same hour. Rev. G. H. Montgomery of Greenville, Pa., conference superintendent, will be in charge of this week's program, preaching an inspiring message at each evening. The music and song service part of the various meetings will be conducted by Rev. Lester C. Bailey, son of the Rev. Charles A. Bailey. The latter was raised in New Castle and has lived here off and on since taking up this work.

Everyone is welcome to attend the revivals and large audiences are anticipated.
